MRS. APPELBAUM IN FIRST STATEMENT DENIES SHOOTING

DAHLONEGA YEGG WANTED FOR BANK OF MONTREAL JOB

"Peoria Slim" Declared to Be Leading Member of Gang Which Got Away With $272,000 Loot in Canada.

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT UPON CHICAGO OFFICER

Photograph Is Identified by Local Pinkertons--Suspects Make Vigorous Objections to Being "Mugged."

J. M. Harris, or J. P. Montague, alias "Peoria Slim," an alleged yeggman, a prisoner in the Tower, was declared Friday to be one of the men sought for a year past by Pinkerton detectives throughout the United States and Canada for the $272,000 robbery of the Bank of Montreal, in New Westminster, British Columbia.

His photograph was identified by Assistant Superintendent Harry Scott, of the local Pinkerton bureau, as the picture of one of the men who beat Lieutenant Bernard J. Burns, of the Chicago police, into insensibility in a Chicago saloon on the night of September 19, 1912, when Burns tried, singlehanded, to catch three of the yegg band.

$141,000 in Bank Notes.

Harris is said to have had in his possession at the time $141,000 in Canadian bank notes and checks, which he tried to exchange for American currency.

The detectives say that the trail of Harris, who is also known under the pseudonyms of "Chicago Slim," Edward M. Paragould, Edward M. Parrigo, William St. Clair and others, lead them to the belief that he cracked the safes in banks at Frankston, Texas, and Buffalo, Texas.

Harris and three pals tried to touch off the vault in the Bank of Lumpkin, at Dahlonega, Ga., on the night of February 14 last, it is said, and this led to the arrest of the quartet in a canebrake on the banks of the river near Ellijay, Ga., on the night of February 19.

Charles Miller, or C. J. Harper, said to have done a short term in the penitentiary in Tennessee, has been identified, according to Pinkerton detectives, as "Nashville Jimmy," whose mug adorns the Bertillon galleries in nearly every city in the United States.

Three Other Suspects Held.

The other alleged yeggs held in Atlanta's Tower are:

William Flynn, 50 years old. Record not known.

William Thornton, 27 years, said to be wanted in Chicago for burglary.

The arrest of Harris, who used the name of James Morgan to stall the police, makes the seventh of the band under arrest for complicity in the Canadian bank haul. Those who are being held are John McNamara, known as "Big Australian Mack," believed to be leader of the band.

"Dayton Red" Walsh and Alice Walsh, said to be his wife. The woman was subsequently released.

Charles Butcher, arrested in Detroit as "Martin Powell."

Charles F. Dean, arrested in Los Angeles, Cal.

Frank West, alias Walter Stacey, arrested in St. Louis on September 26, 1912.

The police have never been able to locate C. S. Proctor, alias Porter. He was last seen in Chicago with "Chicago Slim," the yegg now in custody in Atlanta.

Woman "Rapped" West.

A woman known as Mrs. Walter Stacey, said to be a notorious short change worker, "rapped" West, alias Stacey, to the Pinkertons. A reward of $5,000 was offered for his arrest alone, and $27,000 was the price put on the heads of the gang.

It is said that quite a snug sum was hung up by the Bank of Lumpkin for Harris and his pals.

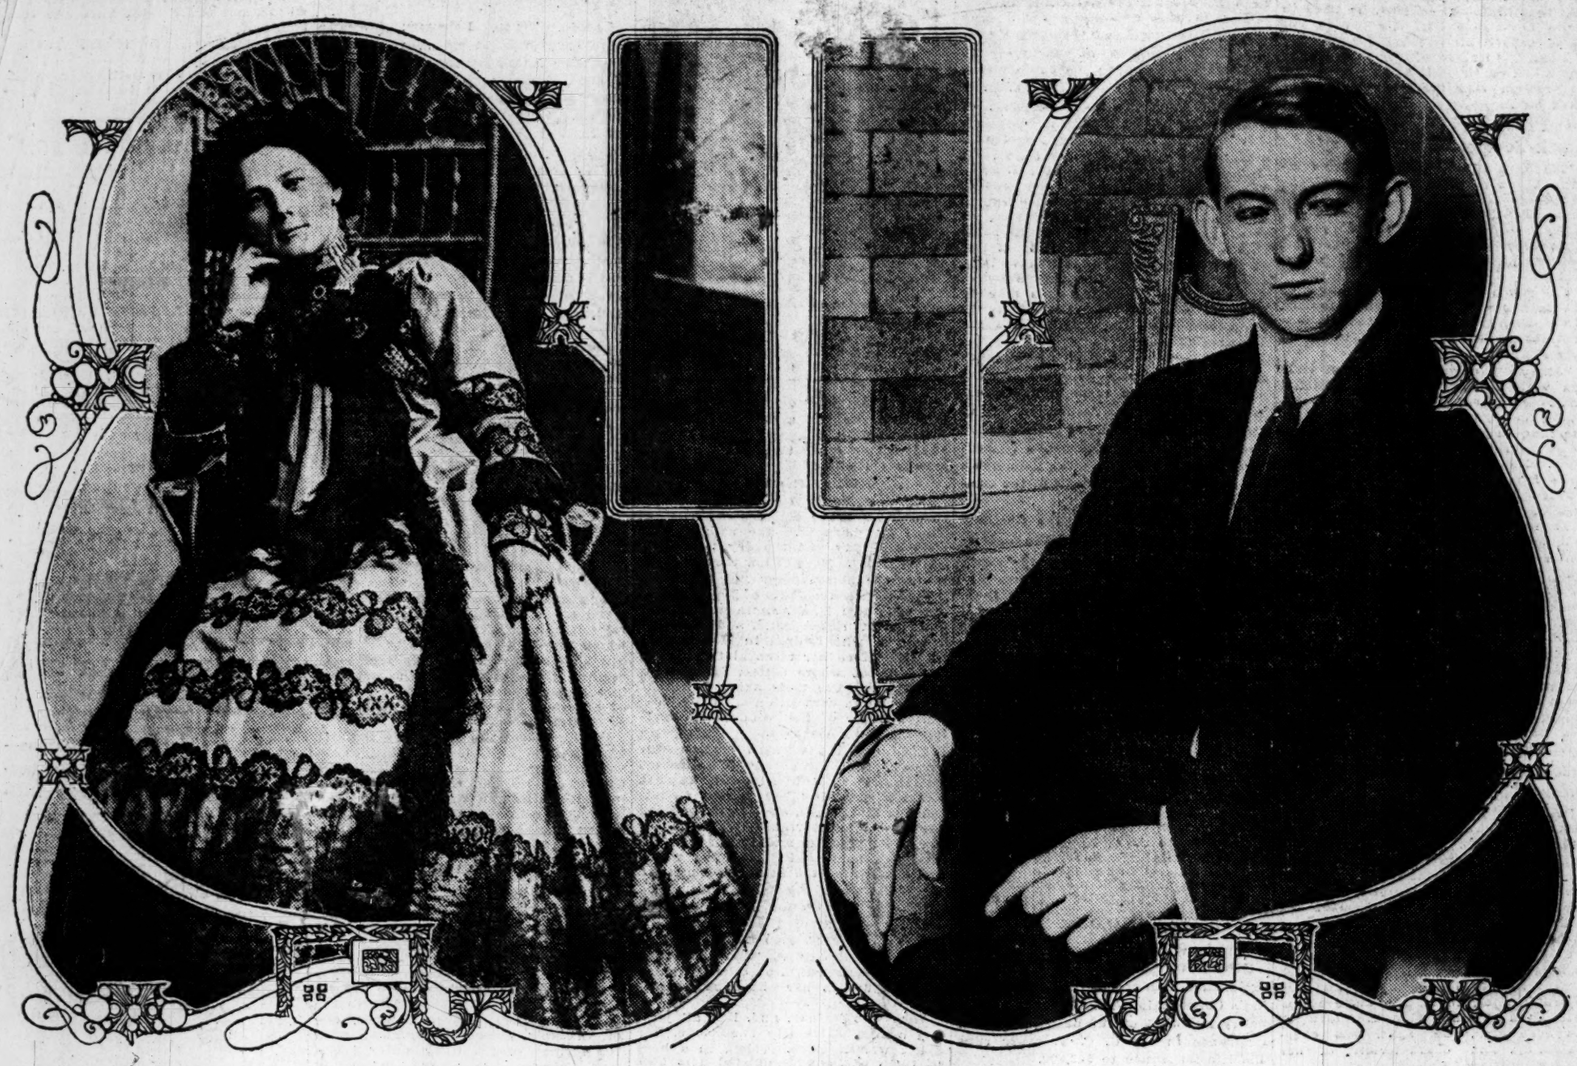
In the attempt to stick up the Lumpkin bank, four yeggs set off four charges of glycerin, and succeeded in penetrating only four inches of the reinforced steel. Citizens were aroused, and, according to Sheriff Ray, who led the posse after the fugitive band, more than 100 shots were exchanged with the bank looters before they were finally captured.

Harris put up a stiff fight in the county jail Friday morning when Deputy Sheriffs Broadnax and Burdette attempted to handcuff them to take them to police headquarters to be photographed and measured. Harris told the officers that he would not move, and offered to put up a fight. He cooled down after four other deputies came to the aid of the prisoners' guards.

At police headquarters the men were stripped and measured. Pinkerton Detective Scott says that Harris succeeded in destroying body scars and marks by having almost every inch covered with tattoo designs of the most bewildering description. His chest is covered with an American emblem.

Just what action the authorities in Lumpkin county will take is not known, but it is expected that Sheriff Ray will make a demand for the prisoner and try and send him up for a term for attempted bank robbery. Meanwhile he is wanted in Chicago and in Montreal.

ACCUSED WOMAN AND SON WHO HAS COME TO COMFORT HER



Mrs. J. A. Appelbaum and her son, Claude Henderson.

"I'M INNOCENT," SHE TELLS SON, WHO VISITS HER IN TOWER CELL

Claude Henderson Comes to Atlanta From Montgomery for the Purpose of Aiding Mother's Lawyers in Her Fight for Acquittal.

BELIEVES THE MURDER WORK OF THIRD PARTY; ANALYZES THE SHOOTING

Youth Says That Cohen's Testimony About the Third Shot Will Be of Value to the Defense — Appelbaum "Bear" With Women, He Declares.

Mrs. J. A. Appelbaum has made her first statement of the tragedy. She says she did not shoot her husband. This she told her son, Claude Henderson, who visited her in the Tower last night after arriving in the city yesterday morning. He later furnished a reporter for The Constitution his accused mother's statement.

"Mamma did not shoot her husband. I am positive she didn't. Since he was killed, I could never believe she had. Tonight she confirmed my belief. I have implicit faith in her. I would believe her above all persons. If she says she did not that settles it. She didn't."

Son Will Aid Mother.

The youth is a handsome chap, affable and quick witted. He declares that there is nothing within human endeavor he will not do to acquit his mother. He intends to stay in Atlanta a week or more. "Mother needs me," he says.

Although he says Mrs. Appelbaum did not talk much with him on the subject of the tragedy because of her condition, she assured him that she did not commit the crime. It had been weighing heavily on his

WEBB BILL THRO' SENATE OVER PRESIDENT'S VETO

Large Majority Given Measure Prohibiting Shipment of Liquor Into the "Dry" States.

Washington, February 28.—The Webb liquor bill, prohibiting the shipment of liquor into "dry" states, was repassed in the senate today over President Taft's veto within two hours from the time the president's message of disapproval had been laid before that body.

A short debate, in which the advocates of the bill voted down a motion to postpone action until tomorrow, and in which they reaffirmed their belief that the measure is constitutional, ended with the repassage of the bill by the large majority of 63 to 21.

Unconstitutional, Says Taft.

The Webb bill passed both houses of congress and went to the president ten days ago. His veto message reached the senate about 3 o'clock today, accompanied by an opinion from Attorney General Wickersham. Basing his decision upon the attorney general's findings, the president expressed the belief that the measure was clearly unconstitutional because it gave the states the right to interfere with interstate commerce.

The senate took up the bill at once. Attorney General Wickersham's opinion was not read and Senator Kern asked that a final vote on the overriding of the veto be delayed until tomorrow, so senators might have the opportunity to examine the attorney general's arguments. A motion made by Mr. Kern to postpone the vote until 12 o'clock tomorrow was defeated, 71 to 9.

Senator McCumber declared both the president and the attorney general had misconstrued the grounds upon which congress had passed the prohibition law.

He said it had not attempted to give the states the right to interfere with commerce, but had simply declared liquor an "outlaw" and had then prescribed conditions under which it might enter interstate commerce. Senator Kenyon also briefly urged repassage of the bill, while Senators Paynter and Percy advocated support of President Taft's veto.

Vote on the Measure.

The vote follows:

To override the president's veto:

Senators Ashurst, Borah, Brady, Bristow, Brown, Bryan, Burnham, Burton, Chamberlain, Chilton, Clapp, Clarke of Arkansas, Crawford, Culberson, Cullom, Cummins, Curtis, Dillingham, Dixon, Fall, Fletcher, Gallinger, Gamble, Gardner, Gore, Gronna, Jackson, Johnson, Johnston, Jones, Kavanaugh, Kenyon, Kern, Lea, Lodge, McCumber, aMrtin, Myers, Nelson, Newlands, Oliver, Overman, Owen, Page, Pittman, Poindexter, Sheppard, Shively, Simmons, Smith of Arizona, Smith of Georgia, Smith of Maryland, Smith of Michigan, Smith of South Carolina, Smoot, Swanson, Thomas, Thornton, Tillman, Townsend, Webb, Williams, Works—total, 63.

To sustain the president:

TWO UNHURT WHEN CAR TAKES DIP OVER BANK

J. L. Clarkson and Raymond Thomas Escape When Automobile Lands in Mud.

Plunging down a 30-foot embankment last night at the corner of Lake and Euclid avenues, in Inman Park, an automobile seemed to carry to almost certain death its two young men passengers—J. L. Clarkson, of 155 Sinclair avenue, and Raymond Thomas, of 24 Colquitt.

They escaped unhurt, by a marvel, when the machine landed right side up in a puddle of mud at the bottom of the hill.

Clarkson was driving the machine, a Chalmers "30," owned by his sister, Mrs. Ernest A. Fowler, also of 155 Sinclair avenue. He was driving toward town on Euclid avenue, following close behind an Inman Park street car. Starting uphill, near the corner of Lake avenue, the street car stopped. The side of the street was blocked by another machine, but Clarkson was going too fast to stop suddenly.

His machine struck the rear end of the street car and swerved to the right, across the sidewalk, through a barbwire fence and down the embankment, which was at least a 70 per cent grade. When he saw his course, Clarkson decided quickly to guide the auto straight down the hill instead of letting it go sideways, and this is probably what kept it from turning over and causing injury or death to the two occupants. They extricated themselves with little difficulty, and found that the auto was only slightly damaged, an axle being broken and the front of the car being crushed.

BROTHER IN FLAMES SAVED FROM DEATH BY SISTER, AGED 6

Albany, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—If Clinton M. Roczkowski, the 2½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. M. Roczkowski, recovers from frightful burns which he sustained early last night, it will be because his sister, Georgia, 6 years old, had the presence of mind to dash several panfuls of water which she drew from a hydrant, over the little fellow's burning garments.

Both the parents of the children were away from home, and the nurse had stepped into the yard to bring in a bucket of coal. Clinton had secured some matches and struck several. His cotton clothing caught fire and his right side was frightfully burned.

His little sister seized a pan, drew it full of water from a hydrant on the back porch and dashed the water on the flame. This she did several times before the nurse and neighbors, who heard the child's screams, reached him. His condition is serious.

NEGROES LYNCHED WHO SHOT OFFICER

Posse of Citizens Exact Vengeance of Tramps Who Killed John Gibby When He Arrested Them.

Cornelia, Ga., February 28.—(Special.) John Gibby, policeman, was shot and killed here this morning by two negro tramps whom he had put under arrest, and as the news of the crime spread through the mountains there quickly gathered more than 2,000 people who witnessed the grim vengeance exacted late this afternoon when the negroes were routed from the side of Griffith mountain and hanged to a telephone pole.

The crowd was perfectly orderly. Many women and some children were present. All dispersed when the sheriff and his posse were allowed to cut the bodies down, and the excitement which had permeated the county all day subsided.

Killed Arresting Tramps.

Gibby was a special policeman for the Southern railway, on duty in the yards here. The crew of an incoming freight train this morning reported two negro tramps to him, who had defied all efforts to put them off. Gibby immediately put the negroes under arrest.

Some time later a traveling man alarmed the authorities by stories of a desperate fight he had witnessed from the window of his train, passing through the deep cut in the yards some distance from town. He alighted at the first station and returned to tell the police. Investigation revealed the body of Gibby, shot through the breast and arm, and tracks of the fleeing negroes leading to the mountains.

It is surmised that while Gibby was putting his handcuffs on one of the men the other attacked him and slew him with his own pistol. The weapon was missing from the body of the murdered man.

Posse Follows With Dogs.

A posse soon formed, and there were 200 in the party which took up the trail with bloodhounds from the convict camp. Other men joined in the chase as the news carried through the hills, and it became apparent that there would be difficulty in safely lodging the prisoners in jail when caught.

The trail followed by the hounds led through some of the wildest parts of Habersham county, circling Clarkesville, until the fugitives thought themselves safely fortified on Griffith mountain, a rough crag of granite sparsely covered with virgin forest. Bits of clothing torn by the underbrush aided the pursuers.

The negroes were brought to bay by the savage aspects of the mountain which barred further progress. The party began to close in, blocking every avenue of escape. Resistance was hopeless and the capture was made without bloodshed.

Masked Men Take Prisoners.

The sheriff planned to rush the men to Clarkesville jail, eight miles from Cornelia, and several miles from the scene of the capture, but he was intercepted en route. The shifting crowd had learned of the capture. A small group of determined men, remembering the death of Gibby, the second killing of a white man by negroes within two years, masked their faces and surrounded the sheriff's party. The others waited silently until the negroes had paid for their crime with their lives.

Before they were hanged the men confessed to the murder.

Gibby was 40 years old and leaves a wife and one son, Hermist, about 15 year old.

PUJO COMMITTEE URGES CURB OF MONEY TRUST

The Majority Report Recommends Rigid Rules to Govern Conduct of National Banks.

Washington, February 28.—Three divergent reports were presented to the house today by the members of the committee which conducted the money trust investigation.

The majority report, signed by Chairman Pujo and the six other democratic members of the committee, found that a money trust exists, according to their understanding of the term. This report names as the "most active agents in bringing about the concentration of money and credit" J. P. Morgan & Co., First National and National City banks, and Kuhn, Loeb & Co., of New York; Lee, Higginson & Kidder, Peabody & Co., of Boston.

Bills Accompany Report.

Two bills accompanied the report, one forbidding the use of the mails to stock exchanges which fail to observe prescribed stringent regulations as to the conduct of their business, and the other prescribing rigid rules for the conduct of national banks, their officers and clearing house associations to which they belong.

This report is substantially, in accord with the conclusions presented to the committee by Samuel Untermyer, counsel.

The first minority report, signed by Representative Hayes of California, Heald of Delaware, and Guernsey of Maine, republicans, set forth that the investigation "has not disclosed the existence of any so-called money trust," but added, "it has, however, disclosed a dangerous concentration of credit in New York city and to some extent in Boston and Chicago."

"While agreeing substantially with the majority," said the report, "on many of the abuses to be included in the financial system, the stock exchange and the clearing house associations, the undersigned have doubts as to the wisdom of some of the remedies proposed by the majority."

Advises Fuller Probe.

This report further set forth the belief that before definitely recommending any remedial legislation, testimony should be taken covering more fully the effect of the various changes in the laws that have been suggested. "It is manifestly impossible," the report concluded, "that any of the proposed legislation can be considered by this congress, and it seems to us wise to leave the matter of recommending complete remedial legislation to those who will be charged with the responsibility of formulating and reporting such legislation to congress."

An individual minority report filed by Representative McMorran, of Michigan, republican, was a flat, detailed disagreement with the recommendations and findings of the majority.

"While I believe that attention has been called to grave deficiencies in our financial laws, I also believe that

HARASSED BY BILLS, RILEY TAKES POISON

"Well, Mollie, This Settles My Debts," Dying Man Tells His Wife.

Harassed by last month's unpaid grocery bill, William C. Riley, aged 45, a clerk for the Southern Railway company, drank carbolic acid and ended his life yesterday afternoon at his home, 246 Highland avenue.

That the deed was premeditated is the belief of friends. Riley resigned his position Friday at noon, came home three hours later and sent his wife down the street a block after J. P. Phelps, the groceryman to whom he owed a bill.

Mrs. Riley went to the store and found that Phelps had gone to Decatur. She returned and, attracted by the fumes of carbolic acid, rushed into the front room. Lying on a rug, with a sofa pillow under his head, was her husband. An ounce bottle and a two-ounce bottle of the deadly acid lay empty by his side. He was still conscious, however, and spoke to her when she threw herself upon the floor by his side.

Dr. M. K. Jenkins, a nearby physician, was called and gave the man emetics, but to no avail. He was standing on his feet held in the arms of the physician and neighbors, when he collapsed, thirty minutes later.

"Well, Mollie, this settles my debts!" he gasped out, and his inert body crumpled up in the arms of the men supporting him.

Mrs. Riley is almost prostrated at the home of her daughter, a child by a former marriage. She states that if Mr. Riley was in financial troubles he had concealed it from her, and she believed he was sick when he came home so early in the afternoon.

Mr. Riley was formerly connected with the waterworks department. He and Mrs. Riley had been married fifteen years. There were no children of the union, and her relatives stated that as far as they knew the man had no relatives except his wife.

The body was taken later in the evening to Barclay & Brandon's chapel and funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at an hour to be announced later. Burial will be at West View.

SEEKING MISSING SON, FATHER DISAPPEARS

Waycross, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—Waycross police were today appealed to by Mrs. W. E. Wiggins for assistance in locating her missing husband. He went from Wacross to Savannah Tuesday to look for a runaway son, Marvin, who came home the night his father went away. Wiggins is described as a small man, weight 115, aged 37. When last seen he wore a brown suit. His wife says he has never missed a meal without letting her know where he was, and she fears he has been injured somewhere.

mind since news first reached him of her arrest.

"She said she did not know how she was killed," the young man said. "She didn't remember. My mother says she didn't shoot him, and doesn't know who did. That is proof conclusive to me, and to anyone else who knows her as well as I."

Young Henderson went auto riding with The Constitution reporter Friday night. His first request was to be driven by the Dakota hotel, in which his step-father was slain. He was shown the windows to the room in which the body was found. He asked to be shown the office.

Deep Mystery Says Son.

"Three stories down, isn't it?" he mused. "It's the most complicated mystery I've ever heard of, and I've read of a lot. I was looking at a diagram of the case tonight. I have kept in as close touch with it as was possible—I've read every newspaper report available.

"Mamma had to run down seventy-two steps. When the clerk had run up the stairs after she had reached the office he found Mr. Appelbaum alive—with a bullet through a vital organ. The man Cohen in the adjoining room heard two pistol shots in rapid succession. Then there was the sound of someone running from room 211 into the hall—that was mother. A moment later came another shot. How are you going to get around that?"

The prisoner's son has pondered deeply over the tragedy. He has viewed it from every standpoint available through newspaper reports. Secure in the faith he holds in his suspected parent, he believes a third party fired the fatal shots.

"If detectives were to find and question the occupants of the rooms near the one in which Mr. Appelbaum was killed, I've reached the conclusion that they could solve the mystery. I'm positive the solution lies there. I heard today that the man who slept in one of the nearby rooms has disappeared. Maybe he knows something about the shooting.

Mamma Did Not Fire Shot.

"It is a case that's as baffling as any I've read, even in fiction. I'm positive of only one thing. That is, mamma did not fire the shots, and had nothing to do with them. She will be acquitted. Some time before her trial, fate or a good detective will produce the murderer. She'll be acquitted. I'm confident of that. But I hate to see her suffer in jail until time of trial."

The boy will confer with the undertakers who have charge of the slain salesman's body today about two diamond studs, Appelbaum's watch and chain. He says his mother has requested him to see that the studs are buried with the body. The watch and chain she wants to keep.

Afterwards he will consult Chief of Detectives Lanford relative to the disposition of valuables and other possessions of value in Appelbaum's effects. They all are at police headquarters, where they are in charge of detectives working upon the mystery.

Claude is the only child of the accused woman. He is only 17, but looks 20 or more. He presents a striking appearance, and is tastily dressed. He is frank and manly. He apparently is well educated.

New Mother Six Months Ago.

Tuesday was the first time for six months that he has seen his mother. The last time was in Montgomery, when she and Appelbaum were on their honeymoon. He is a child of the woman's first marriage. He was intimately acquainted with the man she is accused of killing, and, although he guards his speech, it is obvious that he disliked the dead Appelbaum in many respects.

"Mr. Appelbaum was an excellent man in a number of ways," said the youth, emphasizing the "number," "but in many he did not meet my standard of a 'man.' He was love-struck. He seemed to possess a magnetic faculty for attracting all types of women . . . and he took advantage of it. He was inconsiderate and selfish, too, in many, many forms. He was extravagant . . . Oh, how extravagant! There was nothing that he wanted that he did not get by some manner. He spent most of his money foolishly, and a lot of mamma's the same way. She has pawned some of her jewelry in Charlotte to make good some of the debts he contracted while 'good-timing it' in that town.

"Mamma had $30,000 or more, I guess, when they were married. She hasn't got it now. I doubt if she's got any. Appelbaum went through it. He was that kind. You know, he tried to make her give him her jewels the night before he got killed. He had the fussiest nature of any man I ever knew. Some time I think that was one reason why most of the women liked him.

Dead Man Quick-Tempered.

"He was as quick-tempered as an animal. He'd get mad and fly off the handle in an instant. There wasn't any controlling his fury when he got angry. He'd quarrel and fuss and fight over the most trivial provocation. That was one of his worst faults."

The youth was asked if he knew of his mother's jealous spirit toward other women of her husband's acquaintance. He was evasive, but with this reply:

"Any woman would have been jealous with Mr. Appelbaum. He flirted and acted outrageously with them. He was a 'bear' with the women. Why, at the time he got killed he was engaged to be married to a woman in Saginaw, Mich. I don't see how he could have done it within the law. But, if he wanted her, he'd have got her. He was that 'kind.'"

The reporter asked him if Mrs. Appelbaum had told him of this woman. He evaded the answer, but finally said he had read of it in the newspapers. "I've read nearly every story that's been published about the shooting," he said. "That's how I learned of it.

"Mamma never let me know anything about it. I believe she wanted to keep me unaware of the whole case. She loved me that much. She wouldn't stop at anything for my welfare and benefit. She loves me as much as I love her, and that's saying a whole lot.

Devoted to Mother.

"She was the most devoted mother to me that ever lived. She's the best mother on earth. She is the truest, the faithfulest mamma that ever was, and she never shot her husband. I'd swear she didn't. I'd risk my life that she didn't. I know she didn't, because she told me so, and if you knew her as I know her, you'd be satisfied, too."

Claude tells that his mother's sufferings are not confined to nervousness caused by her imprisonment and the events leading to it, but more so by grief than anything else. Her love for the dead man, he says, was overwhelming, and characteristic of her nature.

"She loved him undyingly. There was no deceit, no affected devotion about her love. She was so wrapped up in him that her life was lived for him, and for him alone. Her love was so strong that it demanded absolute command of his affection. She's often told me of what a great, powerful man she thought he was, and of the many, many impossible things she'd do for him if he were to even ask her.

Like Doves in Montgomery.

"That was a fault with them. She loved him too much. Their domestic career, so far as I knew it, and she always would confide anything in me, was tranquil. I never knew them to quarrel, although they might have done it. It was easy for him to create a row. In Montgomery they were like two doves, and everywhere else I knew anything about. Mamma loved him too much to squabble with him.

"She always avoided impending storms. I don't doubt that she tried to evade the fuss they had the night before he was shot. She would have if she could. That wasn't the cause of the killing. There was something else, something unknown, something mysterious. It'll finally develop. Retribution, although it might be slow, is as sure as the sun, and will descend upon the guilty one. In the end she'll be freed. She'll be exonerated. The only suffering she'll have to bear will be his death and the unmerited stigma it has stamped upon her.

"Justice is justice; there's no getting around it. She didn't shoot him, and it'll be proved. She wouldn't have shot him under any circumstances. Nothing could have caused her to. I know she didn't. I know she wouldn't. She told me so—that is all that's necessary."

APPELBAUM HELD THREE POLICIES

"Insurance Presumably Collectible," Wires Attorneys in Gastonia, N. C.—Total of Policies Is $23,800.

Insurance policies maintained by the slain Appelbaum are daily adding new thrills to the mysterious case. The Constitution developed yesterday that the accused woman is beneficiary to life insurance of her dead husband amounting to $10,000 in the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance company, of Gastonia, N. C.

It was also learned that Appelbaum held an accident policy for $7,500. It is understood that this policy, like the other two, is payable to the woman who is now in the Tower. According to a telegram from Wilson and Valze, all these policies are receipted till some date in August, and, while it is impossible to tell whether they have been actually paid for or not, they are presumably collective. "All this may be affected, however, by other facts in connection with the case," wires the Gastonia attorneys.

No statement regarding the existence of the policies can be obtained from the imprisoned woman through her attorneys or otherwise. Attorneys Wilson and Valze, of Gastonia, are authority for The Constitution's information regarding the $10,000 policy. The documents are now secure in the vault of the Gastonia Trust company.

In answer to a query, the Gastonia attorneys yesterday wired the following message to The Constitution:

Papers Held by Lawyers.

"We have in our lock box in the Gastonia Loan and Trust company papers of Jerome A. Appelbaum as follows: Policy No. 13125 for $10,000 in the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance company, dated August 15, 1912, Callie S. Appelbaum named beneficiary. Policy No. 200617 in the Royal Indemnity company, accident insurance, expires August 9, 1913. Its capital sum is $7,500. Policy 96891 in the Piedmont Fire Insurance company for $1,500, which policy, for household effects, expires September 18, 1915. Deed from Carolina Realty company to J. A. Appelbaum and wife, Callie S. Appelbaum, for house and lot in the city of Charlotte. Certificate of membership in the U. C. T., Charlotte lodge, August 16, 1912.

(Signed) WILSON & VALZE, "Attorneys."

Insurance Totals $16,300.

That it was believed the $10,000 policy existed was stated in Friday morning's Constitution. The amount of this policy and that of the dead salesman's insurance in the U. C. T. order runs his life insurance to $23,800.

From her cell in the Tower the accused woman today will direct the funeral and burial of her husband's body. Funeral directors from the Greenberg & Bond establishment will confer with her some time this morning. The services will be held in private in the Greenberg & Bond chapel.

No selection has been chosen as to a cemetery lot—no cemetery has been chosen. The body likely will be placed in a vault and kept until plans are arranged for removal to another city. Mrs. Appelbaum, in an interview with a reporter for The Constitution, the first and only one she has made since her incarceration in jail, said that she was undecided whether to direct the burial here or elsewhere.

Recovering From Collapse

Mrs. Appelbaum is rapidly recovering from the nervous collapse she suffered Thursday morning. She awoke at 7 o'clock Friday and the day passed by uneventfully. Most of her time is spent in reading newspapers.

Two former residents of Montgomery, one of whom is a prominent business and club man of Atlanta, and the other a woman who figured in Montgomery society before her removal to Atlanta, but both of whom desire, for obvious reasons, to have their names withheld from print in connection with the case, talked freely of the woman's interesting career in Alabama.

Both say the accused woman was one of the most generous-hearted characters in the Alabama capital. Besides educating her son in an expensive institution, she is said to have provided a comfortable livelihood for her aged parents, and to have purchased a home and farm upon which she established the father and mother.

Victim of Misplaced Love.

"She is the victim of a misplaced love," said one of the former Montgomery residents, who knew Mrs. Appelbaum intimately. "She demanded absolute devotion. No other woman could figure in her husband's affection.

"She was jealous, and, like all jealous beings, extremely suspicious. Her spirit was tigerish. Often, in a heat of rage, she has committed acts that were repulsive to her in saner moments. Upon one occasion, while riding in her auto through a downtown section of Montgomery, she encountered Keller, her husband at that time. She asked him to get in the machine. He refused. A heated quarrel resulted. Mrs. Appelbaum stepped from the machine and went into a store. Returning, she carried a horse whip. Without a word of warning she lashed her husband severely, and he was saved from disfigurement for life only by the prompt interference of onlookers.

Generous to Friends.

"She is a sympathetic, benevolent woman. Her spirit of abnegation, at times, was pathetic. Frequently she deprived herself of absolute necessities in order to aid a friend or acquaintance."

Should bond be needed by the woman, two Atlantans already have offered their support. A number of Montgomery citizens have assured her that they would render financial aid when it became necessary. Dabney H. Scoville, proprietor of the Dakota hotel, in which her husband was slain, told a reporter for The Constitution on the night following the tragedy that he would offer any amount within his ability for bail. Martin May, an Atlanta jeweler, with whose establishment Mrs. Appelbaum once was connected, has offered the sum of $5,000 to obtain her freedom.

MEXICAN FACTIONS SIGN PEACE PACT

Huerta Government Is Recognized by Northern Revolutionary Leaders and Peace Is Considered Matter of Time.

Laredo, Texas, February 28.—The Huerta government was unequivocally recognized today at the peace conference at Nuevo Laredo by representatives of the northern revolutionary leaders. This information was given out tonight by Colonel Pascual Orozco, Sr., father of the rebel chieftain, of the northern states. Colonel Orozco expressed the opinion that peace throughout Mexico is now a question of but a short time.

The most important demands of the revolutionary leaders, it is learned, was that a minister of justice acceptable to all factions be appointed as an assurance that justice will be administered impartially and that order is maintained. Several of the reovlutionary delegates expressed the opinion that Rodolfo Deyes, minister of justice in the Huerta cabinet, would be acceptable to Orozco.

Mexican Consul Antonio Lozana stated tonight Nuevo Laredo as a port of entry would probably be reopened within twenty-four hours.

GOVERNMENT ORDERS DELEASE OF REFUGEES HELD BY ARMY

Washington, February 28.—The administration in two actions today evinced its belief in the stability of the Huerta government of Mexico, for the present at least. In the first place, orders were sent to the military commanders from California to Texas to release all of the Mexican refugees whom they had captured on the American side of the line. This was done because these prisoners, who are few in number, can no longer be regarded as rebels in view of the successful revolution in Mexico.

In the second place, a safe conduct was granted to Colonel de la Fuente and the members of his party, now somewhere in the vicinity of Juarez, to proceed to San Antonio, where an important conference is to be held between the Mexican factions in the interest of general peace.

Third Madero Killed.

The confirmation of the first reports of the killing of Emilio Madero, the third of the family to pay the extreme penalty, is regarded as a step toward peace, removing as it does a resourceful and implacable rebel leader.

From various quarters came reports of the adhesion of rebel chiefs to the new government. Checo Campos, one of Orozco's ablest lieutenants, with 700 former rebels, today entered Gomez Palacio, in accord with and escorted by federal troops. Consul Ham telegraphed from Durango that the local situation is vastly improved; that the new administration is very popular with the better classes, who have determined to co-operate with the provisional government to restore order.

The announcement of the candidacy of General Felix Diaz for the presidency, though expected, has excited some interest here, as it is felt that the development of his campaign will speedily disclose the existence of any rival candidates and apply the acid test to the existing friendly compact between Diaz and Huerta.

WEBB BILL PASSED OVER TAFT'S VETO

Crane, Dupont, Foster, Guggenheim, McLean, Martine, O'Gorman, Paynter, Penrose, Percy, Perkins, Pomerene, Richardson, Root, Stephenson, Sutherland, Warren, Wetmore—total, 21.

Effort will be made tomorrow to override the veto in the house. Representative Clayton, of Alabama, will move to take up the veto for the purpose of passing the bill over the president's head, as soon as the house convenes. Representative Webb, author of the bill, declared he had absolute confidence that the house would repass the bill by more than a two-thirds majority.

"After giving this proposed enactment full consideration," wrote the president in his veto message, "I believe it to be a violation of the interstate commerce clause of the constitution, in that it is in substance and effect a delegation by congress to the states of the power of regulating interstate commerce in liquors which is vested exclusively in congress.

Bound by His Oath.

"It is said that this is a question with which the executive or members of congress should not burden themselves to consider or decide. It is said that it should be left to the supreme court to say whether this proposed act violates the constitution. I dissent utterly from this proposition. The oath which the chief executive takes and which each member of congress takes does not bind him any less sacredly to observe the constitution than the oath which the justices of the supreme court take. It is questionable whether the doubtful constitutionality of a bill ought not to furnish a greater reason for voting against the bill, or vetoing it, than a court to hold it to be invalid.

"The custom of legislators and executives having any legislative function to remit to the court's entire and ultimate responsibility as to the constitutionality of the measure which they take part in passing is an abuse which tends to put the court constantly in opposition to the legislature and the executive, and indeed to the popular supporters of unconstitutional laws. If, however, the legislators and the executives had attempted to do their duty this burden of popular disapproval would have been lifted from the courts, or at least considerably lessened.

"For these reasons, and in spite of the popular approval of this bill, I have not felt justified in signing it."

The president cited several decisions of the supreme court, which he declared strengthened his view. He sent to congress also the opinion of Attorney General Wickersham, which coincided with his.

NINE INJURED IN WRECK.

Passenger Train on Wrightsville and Tennille Overturns.

Eastman, Ga., February 28.—A passenger train on the Wrightsville and Tennille railroad was wrecked at Cadwell, thirteen miles from here, this afternoon, three cars overturning on the embankment.

The injured were brought to this city.

List of injured:

George Simpson, Detroit, Mich., scalp wound, hip sprained and internal injuries.

R. R. Jones, Bathson, neck sprained.

H. S. Girtman, Charleston, S. C., middle finger on left hand cut off.

George E. Pritchet, Dublin, Ga., scalp wound, cut above right knee and back sprained.

J. S. Register, Batson, Ga., knee and thumb sprained.

Four negroes also were badly hurt.

Spreading rails is believed to have been the cause of the wreck.

DR. WALKER TO PREACH INAUGURATION SERMON

An inauguration sermon, inspired by the coming elevation of a former Atlanta attorney to the presidency of the United States, will be preached Sunday morning at the First Presbyterian church by Dr. Hugh K. Walker. The subject will be "Self Effacement and Genuine Leadership,' in which will be presented the picure of an old-time hero with some thoughts and ideals for the present hour.

The discourse will be especially interesting to the congregation of the First church, as Governor Wilson attended services there back in the 80's, when he first hung out his shingle as a young barrister.

The night service subject will be "Challenging a Presumptuous Ghost."

This cigarette has won the good-will of the country.

LAUDER TO PLAY Ggolf WITH THE PRESIDENT

Comedian Declares He Will Wipe Out Defeat Inflicted in Their Last Game.

When Harry Lauder, the Scotch comedian, reaches Augusta on Wednesday, he will sit beside President (then ex-president) Taft as his fellow guest of honor at the Country club. Before his matinee he will give Mr. Taft a rub at golf on the links of the club in an effort to wipe out the defeat which he suffered at the hands of Mr. Taft, who was then president-elect, four years ago at Virginia Hot Srpings.

Lauder comes by his golf playing honestly. It is his national game. He explains that, had he not been sadly out of form, no American—not even a golf playing president—could have beaten him. He and Mr. Taft have met several times at the springs, and the comedian's threats have been gamely met by Mr. Taft, who maintains that he can beat Lauder in his best golfing condition. Lauder laughs at the assertion and says: "If it's nae lese majesty, yer excellency, I'll gie you the run o' yer distinguished life."

In Augusta Lauder will be met when his special train arrives by a committee of Scotch-Americans. They will drive the comedian to the Country club, where the luncheon has been arranged for Mr. Taft and his family, Charles P. Taft, Mr. and Mrs. Lauder and William Morris, Lauder's manager, and Mrs. Morris. The golf game will then take place, and the entire party will be Lauder's guests at dinner on his private car, the Olympia, which, strangely enough, was President Taft's traveling home for three years.

Wherever Lauder travels his presence is the occasion for social activities. In Atlanta he will be met, feted and entertained in elaborate fashion by the Bobby Burns club, the Scottish society, public officials and some personal friends.

WILSON ESCAPES WRECK

Broken Rail Found Ahead of President-Elect's Train.

Philadelphia, February 28.—President-elect Wilson escaped a possible train wreck today on his weekly journey from Princeton to see a dentist. A track walker on the Pennsylvania railroad discovered a broken rail near Tacony, a suburb, and the train on which Mr. Wilson was riding was held up on the block three minutes later. The preceding train had broken a chunk out of the track just beside a culvert.

The president-elect was delayed forty minutes in getting to his dentist. While he was glad that the broken rail was discovered in time, he chafed somewhat at the delay, especially since other passenger trains behind were sent ahead on another track, while trackmen worked on a new rail.

The president-elect counted four trains as they went by and remarked that he could not understand why the train was held up so long.

Taking the Part of Mephisto, This Actor Played the Devil

WALTER T. VAN BROCKLIN,
Actor who played "Devil" at American theater. He is now charged with bigamy.

Walter Tinsley Brocklin, an actor who plays the role of Mephisto in "The Devil Up-to-Date," a play being staged at the American theater, emulated his Satanic majesty in such a modern manner that it has landed him in jail awaiting action of the grand jury—on a charge of bigamy.

Two wives claim him as their husband. A pretty actress claims him as her soulmate. A 6-year-old babe claims him as its father. Recorder Broyles claimed the actor's affections were illegally distributed too generously. He was bound over under $1,000 bond. His paramour, with whom he was arrested, was bound over under $200 bail.

Brocklin's case resulted when wife No. 2 attended "The Devil Up-to-Date" in the American Thursday afternoon. She penetrated the Mephistophelian disguise of her husband and recognized him instantly. She had been searching for him for several months, seeking to have him arrested for the charge under which he was bound over.

She is, or was—she prefers "is"—Miss Alto Shane, and her residence is 49 Atlanta avenue. She informed Headquarters Detectives Pate and Rosser, and they went to find the much-married thespian. He was at the Cumberland hotel. The sleuths arrested him and pretty Jessie Adams, an actress, with whom he has been living as man and wife for considerable while.

"What am I under arrest for?" he asked the detectives.

"Your wife orders it," he was told.

"Where is she—at 52 Cooper street?" he queried.

"No! What about 52 Cooper street?" the detective asked.

"Oh, nothing," the prisoner answered. "Nothing at all—I only got my numbers mixed."

The officers knew nothing about any connection to Van Brocklin's case at 52 Cooper street, but from the actor's manner, they suspected something. After carrying their prisoner to headquarters, they followed up the Cooper street hunch.

It proved to be a good hunch. Immediate investigation revealed taht the incarecrated performer possessed wife No. 1 at No. 52, and that they had been married since 1901. His baby boy was also at this address.

Her name before marriage was Miss Carrie McConnell. She is a pretty woman, apparently 28 years old. Wife No. 2 evidently is no older, a beautiful blonde, who takes the situation humorously rather than seriously.

Both wives appeared in court. Their evidence indicated that The Man Who Played the Devil has as many names as he had spouses. Miss Shane said he had married her in 1908 in Colorado City, Texas, and that they separated a year later. His name at that time, she declared, was Walter E. LeVonne.

Miss McConnell testified that, under the name of Barnett, Van Brocklin had married her in Dallas, Texas, in 1901, and that they had separated in 1908. Neither wife said they knew of the other's existence. Van Brocklin's soulmate said she had believed him to be single.

Efforts are being made to obtain bond for the actor and Miss Adams.

$16,000 DAMAGES DENIED.

Judge Bell's Decision in Hill Case Reversed.

Unless she gets a new trial, Mrs. Lillian D. Hill, of Alabama, will not receive the $16,000 damages awarded her by Fulton county superior court for the death of her husband, William H. Hill, a locomotive engineer in the employ of the Southern railway, who was killed when his locomotive was derailed and overturned at Mobile Junction September 22, 1910. This was decided yesterday by an opinion of the supreme court, which also held that Judge Bell, of the superior court, erred in certain portions of his charge to the jury. Says the supreme court:

"The jury was improperly instructed as to the estimate of damages. They were told that damages not only were recoverable for the benefit of the surviving widow and children, but in case the net earnings of the deceased were in excess of this sum that such excess was also recoverable by the administratrix of the deceased employee. Under the evidence this charge was harmful and requires a new trial."

Mrs. Hill was the administratrix and brought suit for $35,000 under the employers' liability act. After the award of $16,000 the railroad asked for a new trial, which was refused. The case was carried on a bill of exceptions to the supreme court, where the judgment of the lower court was reversed. Mrs. Hill was represented by Attorney Reuben R. Arnold. The Southern was represented by Attorneys McDaniel & Black and E. A. Neeley.

RECEIPTS IN SUMTER TOTAL 34,000 BALES

Americus, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—Thirty-four thousand bales of cotton approximately represent receipts at Americus for the season to this date. This cotton represents the crop produced in Sumter county last year, and was an excellent one, worth approximately $2,000,000 to the producers. While crops in other localities proved a partial failure, Sumter county produced a normal crop, as shown by wagon receipts here. One thousand bales represent the total stocks still held in Americus warehouses.

DID BEATING FIREMAN DURING G. & F. STRIKE OBSTRUCT THE MAILS?

Savannah, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—A novel legal point was argued before Judge Speer, in the United States court, today while a demurrer to an indictment against Clint Hall and others, charged with obstructing the United States mails, was under consideration.

The obstructing which the defendants are alleged to have committed consisted of "beating up" a fireman during a strike on the Georgia and Florida railroad a year ago last September. It is contended by the government that by intimidating the fireman, who was preparing the engine for a run from Vidalia to Millen, the train could not leave on time, and the mail that was aboard was thus delayed.

Judge Speer remarked that the legal aspect of the case presented was one of considerable moment, so he took the matter under advisement. A. Pratt Adams, who appeared for the defendants, argued that the indictment was defective because it did not show that the defendants knew there was mail on the train that was obstructed.

It appeared from the statements made by counsel that the engine which Sam Wilson was preparing for the run from Vidalia to Millen was detached from the mail train in question at the time the defendants beat him. Government attorneys, however, insisted that this fact is immaterial, as the defendants knew well enough that the engine was being gotten ready to pull the train which had the mail aboard.

INVESTORS LOOKING FOR GEORGIA OPPORTUNITIES

Hon. Moultrie M. Sessions, of the Sessions Loan and Trust company, of Marietta, is of the opinion that Georgia is attracting the attention of outside capital more than any other state.

"I have been getting remarkable results from both east and west," said he, in speaking of the interest now being manifested in investments in this section. "My correspondents in every part of the country tell me that they are more impressed with Georgia than any other southern state, and they believe the opportunity for loans on farm property is more attractive in Georgia than any other part of the south."

"Bonds and Mortgages," a well-known financial magazine published in Chicago, says of the situation in Georgia:

"Of all the southern states, Georgia bids fair to become the principal objective point for the more discriminating investors in farm loans, on account of its rich agricultural resources, coupled with the unusually high standard of its loan agents. Only recently have the investors of the central west become sufficiently acquainted with the ideal conditions now obtaining in Georgia for the more profitable employment of their surplus funds, due largely to the progressive methods adopted by the representative investment bankers of that state. Land values in Georgia as yet are low, but steadily enhancing, adding another desirable element to the farm loan security offered to investors."

TOURING CAR SMASHED BY COAST LINE TRAIN

Waycross, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—Early tonight a touring car belonging to Andrew B. Estes was struck at the Boulevarad crossing by an incoming Atlantic Coast Line passenger train from Savannah and practically ruined. The driver of the car, Broadus Estes, tried to flag the train when he found that the auto was stalled on the track, but his efforts were unseen. Steps of cars on the train were torn off by the auto. The occupants got out of the car in safety before the smash occurred.

ENTOMBED MINERS FINALLY RESCUED

Pottsville, Pa., February 28.—Weakened by hunger and benumbed by cold, three miners who were entombed on Wednesday in a colliery near Mahonoy City, were rescued early today.

The waters of a creek broke through the mine wall and caught five men. Two were washed by the rushing water to a place of safety, but the others were imprisoned.

1,000 WILL ATTEND BIG CHAMBER DINNER

More Than 600 Acceptances Have Already Been Received by the Secretary.

More than 600 acceptances have been received for the big dinner to be given at the Auditorium Tuesday evening, March 4, by the Atlanta chamber of commerce and every mail is bringing in more of them.

There is now every indication that the number sitting at the tables will reach the figure set by the chamber of commerce, 1,000, if it does not go beyond that number.

The dinner will be personally superintended by J. Lee Barnes, who says that he is going to make it one of the best affairs Atlanta has ever known from a gastronomic standpoint. Service of the dinner will be facilitated by the fact that as a result of the gas show, the city has established a splendid up-to-date kitchen in the Auditorium-Armory. Fifteen of the big ranges which were on exhibition at the gas show were secured and there is at hand every essential facility for getting a dinner for 1,000 persons or more, if necessary.

The decorations for the dinner will be in accord with inauguration day and will follow the national colors, even the tablecloths being in red, white and blue.

MARYLAND LIFE BUYS GEORGIA LIFE BUSINESS

After negotiations of several months with a number of different southern companies, the Georgia Life Insurance company, of Macon, has made tentative arrangements for the sale of its life insurance policy holdings to the Maryland Life, of Baltimore.

While terms of the transfer have been agreed upon by officials representing both companies, the deal has not yet been approved by Insurance Commissioner Wright. His approval will probably be given immediately, however, and the business taken over at once. It is understood that the Georgia Life will be paid approximately $45,000 for its life business, the policies amounting to a total insurance liability of about $3,500,000.

150 BOYS AT BANQUET.

Yells and Whoops Resound at "Boy Scout" Banquet.

In one of the big dining rooms, 150 boys sat down to a banquet together Friday night in the First Christian church. The boys were there for the biggest time of the year, for it was the anniversary banquet of the "boy scout" class of the First Christian, taught by Miss Bernice Scott.

Yells and whoops and merry laughs filled the entire basement of the church. The boys first spent a half hour together in potato races and various games and then sat down to the tables in the dining room and were served with a dinner by a number of the ladies of the church, who assisted Miss Scott in acting as hosts. The "boy scout" movement was outlined to the boys, who listened with great attention. John Crenshaw acted as master of ceremonies.

La Vida Corsets

It will be time well spent for any woman to visit our Corset Department today and be fitted in one of the new La Vida models by Mrs. Marvin. Then the corset question for the coming season will be settled, and settled rightly.

As the season advances you are going to hear a great deal about the new corsets, the silhouette, the hipless figure, the way the new dresses and suits are fashioned.

And those who will have been fitted by Mrs. Marvin will have good reason to be thankful.

Will you be one of them?

A STRIKING CONTRAST!

Whatever may be Mayor Woodward's sins of omission or commission his course in the battle for the new charter shows him up to decided advantage as in contrast to the selfish politician who would cheerfully subordinate the city's welfare to his own small offices and power. In the interests of efficient city government, the mayor has expressed a perfect willingness to legislate himself out of office to which he has been elected for a term of two years, regardless of whether he is or is not elected by the people in the balloting that should follow the ratification of a new charter. The Constitution is more in a position to commend his attitude, since its record is decidedly not that of a Woodward partisan.

The little band of politicians bent on defeating real revision at any cost cannot do better than to follow the mayor's example in this respect. Any other course is one of unmitigated selfishness and pettiness. To put up a few small jobs, a little patronage, and selfish private interests against the progress and welfare of the whole city, is, to say the least of it, indefensible. Those who would do so place themselves in the indefensible position that the interests of a few political manipulators must take right-of-way over the interests of all Atlanta. If that contention is followed to its logical conclusion the city would forever be at the mercy of any close corporation of politicians and office-holders who might temporarily be in power.

It might as well be understood right now that the people of this city claim and expect to exercise the right to manage their own affairs, and that the tricks and subterfuges which have so long thwarted charter revision are no longer to be tolerated. The one candid course for the politicians who oppose real charter revision is for them to frame and put up their own charter, side by side with the other document in a popular election. But for the little die-hard ring to attempt to balk relief by attaching jokers and riders to the charter prepared by the committee of twenty-five, is to court their own sure repudiation. The issue is simply between—

The people and the politicians!

The people have been choked off long enough by the soothing syrup of false promises. They are going to replace out-of-date methods in this city with up-to-date methods, and all the political conspiracies devisable will not swerve them from that course.

A MUNICIPAL OBLIGATION.

Subscribing to the fund for the widow and family of Fireman Gillespie, who recently lost his life in the collapse of a building on Whitehall street, Lucien Harris pertinently asks if the city should not care for those dependent on firemen and policemen who lose their lives in the pursuit of duty.

The city certainly should make such a policy an established one. If any family ever had a legitimate demand upon the city of Atlanta, it is that of this brave fireman who came to his death in the line of duty. No regular provision is now made for such cases, but it should be a point of honor with council to extend his regular pay at least until such time as his family is beyond danger of destitution. The city owes the dead man and his family that consideration beyond the shadow of a doubt.

The policeman and the fireman in our day pursue vocations that should be classified exactly as is that of the soldier. If the latter is killed or disabled while on duty, the government provides for his family. The same rule should apply to the municipal policeman and fireman. If the former is killed while preserving life and property, the city is under obligation to care for those dependent on him. The same principle holds with the fireman.

Specifically with regard to the Gillespie case, council should take action at its next meeting. And it should lose no time in making easier the mind of every policeman and fireman in the city by such measures as will assure that if disaster befalls them, their loved ones will not be at the mercy of charity.

STRIPES FOR SUFFRAGETTES.

The British authorities give evidence of intention to substitute vigor for vacillation in their attitude toward the suffragettes guilty of crime and violence. It is now said that those charged with burning buildings in public parks are liable to life imprisonment, and it is likely the government will ask the courts to impose sentences of maximum severity.

At this distance, the method seems to be the one effectual and just one. Such demonstrations as the destruction of window-fronts and the pillaging of mail boxes, not to mention rioting, are bad enough. They would be handled without hesitation, if perpetrated by men. But when it comes to arson, and that is the offense in these later cases, it is evident that the time has come to adopt a firm policy. More inexcusable even than the burning of the buildings in Kew gardens was the dynamiting of the residence of Lloyd George. It was not the fault of the women engaged in this outrage that it was not followed by wholesale loss of life.

Freedom of protest and expression is one thing, and license to use the torch and dynamite quite another. The British government is not to be envied for the delicate position in which it now finds itself. It must put down anarchy and yet it is uncertain how far public sentiment will extenuate extreme measures against women. America is fortunate in that proponents of universal suffrage in this country choose incomparably saner means to gain their ends.

THE HEALTH LECTURES.

The board of education has acted wisely in providing that at regular intervals experts shall lecture to the school children of Atlanta on hygiene and sanitation. Supplementing the course on hygiene now taught in the schools and the medical inspection that introduced a beneficent revolution, this innovation will be of far-reaching influence.

Nearly half the deaths now occurring in this country are due to preventable disease. Preventive science is even now trying to reach the adult and educate him in the ways of health conservation. This is well. But much more can be accomplished by preaching health to children. What a person learns in his receptive years is likely to remain with him throughout life. Teach him at the very start how to live so as to avoid disease and he begins his career with infinitely better chances of attaining a vigorous old age, and of avoiding inefficiency throughout life than if the process were delayed until he reaches mature years.

If longevity is to become a characteristic of this country and, what is more important, if Americans are to live and work efficiently during their active years, the propaganda must begin with the child. The half-hour lectures for which the board is arranging will be time splendidly invested.

A GRAFT WELL ENDED.

The senate is due the gratitude of the nation in lopping off the free seed provision from the agricultural appropriation bill. There has never been any excuse for the government indulging in this folly, and it is to be hoped the house will not seek to revive the item.

Almost from the beginning of the distribution of free seed the practice has been a joke and a semi-scandal. The provision has never met the end for which it was intended.

The only advantage of the system, and that a questionable one, was the additional political pap it gave the congressman. And the vote that could be bought by a few packages of dubious garden seed was hardly worth the price. While congress had its attention turned to petty political graft, it might well have taken a whack at the free franking and printing privileges. Sensible restriction in these directions would save the government several hundred thousand dollars a year.

Rumors that Castro will tour Mexico are without foundation. His head is on straight, at present.

Jeffersonian simplicity will prevail, and the man who lands a fat office will not have to invite the members of a serenading band to empty his jug.

The restful silence of Oyster Bay will not be broken at the Wilson inaugural.

As additional evidence of Mexico's cordial feeling for this country Huerta is willing to borrow $30,000,000 from us

The Farmer's Song.

While the statesmen there, in Washington, are heeding their country's call,
We're building up the country—we're tilling
the land for all.

Each happy day—we greet it;
The early sun—we meet it;
We're building up the country—we're tilling
the land for all.

From dreams of a golden harvest to the furrows we are led:
No vagrant hours; the fields are ours, that promise your daily bread.

And so, the blessings fall:
We heed the harvest's call,—
We're building up the country—we're tilling
the land for all.

Last Call!

Last call to Washington! Now they're comin' strong!
"Woodrow" and "Win there," the car wheels
sing along.
Join the racket and the row;
Pick the big plums from the bough;
Goin' to get there anyhow!

Last call to Washington—the frolic and the fuss;
The old house of our Fathers looks good enough to us!
Shake the plumtree! Fetch 'em down!
We're the kings to wear the crown!
Ho, for Hallelula Town!

An Editor in Trouble.

"Since our better-half went the way to Washington, with the other women, there has been trouble at home," says The Whitsett Courier. "Between writing editorials instructing the incoming president how to run the country, we have had to split the kindling, light the fire, cook breakfast, dress the children, order the groceries and superintend the spring cleaning. It is too much! A woman's place is at home; there she shines—almost as brightly as we did when we lit the fire with gasoline. Where will this suffragette business end? May the Lord be good to us!"

In the Growling Land.

Here's a feller growlin' 'cause springtime comes too soon
When the winds that wave the lilies their airy fiddles tune;
An' when the snows of winter are on the ghostly hills
They're grievin' for the music of the mockin'birds an' rills!

All the time black banners
Of storm-clouds unfurled;
Never know they're livin'
In such a fine old world!

They never feel the sunshine the good Lord sends their way,
Or know the woodland altars where the winds kneel down to pray;
Forever an' forever like mourners sad they go,
Nor bless the Lord for Springtime, nor thank Him for the snow.

No joy comes singin' to 'em—
No cross they ever kiss;
They never know they're livin'
In a fine old world like this!

Character Cameos

By Robert V. Carr

Do you know anyone like this?

Type No. 118.—Woman. Unmarried. Age 35. Government clerk. Hair, black and crinkly. Nose, large. Eyes, dark gray. Expression sarcastic, and muscles about mouth generally tensed. Voice, snappy and brisk. Really has an exalted opinion of herself. In conversation uses a lot of stock phrases. Often says that she would like to see the man who would make her bend to his will. Seems to think, if she condescended to marry a mere man, that the stars would halt in their courses. Continually talks shop, and is always telling her friends of her clever work. Possesses little feminine charm, and dumbly wonders why a great, big, handsome, positive man will fall at the feet of some little kittenish woman who, according to No. 118's ideas, does not know enough to come in out of a snow storm. Never has had a real love affair. Too self-centered to love anybody or anything. Always talking of what she expects of a man. Forever making conditions. Does not seem to realize that she has little to offer a man except a sharp tongue, a lot of conceit and a cold heart.

Comment—No. 118 is to be pitied. She foolishly imagines that she can bargain with love. Love is a child of the sun, and never invades the bleak, barren arctic regions. No. 118 is doomed to a terrible disappointment. Presently she will be overcome with that "lost dog" feeling and marry the first man who gives her a chance. Naturally, he will be a poor stick, for, if he were alert and wide-awake, he would flee from No. 118 as from the wrath of the gods. Later she will secure a divorce and go back to work, thoroughly convinced that all men are worthless, that she has been deeply wronged and that matrimony is a failure. Poor, miserable, selfish, conceited No. 118!

A Just Plea.

Editor Constitution: Herewith my check for $5 for widow of Fireman Gillespie. In connection with the above, don't you think it would be a good idea to start a movement to have the city provide a fund to be paid to widows of policemen and firemen who lose their lives in the discharge of their duties?

New News of Yesterday

The Man Who First Turned Petroleum Into Illuminating Oil.

By E. J. EDWARDS.

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

This daily series of anecdotes and incidents that throw new, interesting and frequently dramatic light on famous events and personalities of the past have been collected by Mr. Edwards during nearly forty years of more or less intimate acquaintance with many of the country's leaders since the civil war. Each anecdote or incident is fresh from Mr. Edwards' notebook, and, either in whole or in part, it constitutes NEW NEWS OF YESTERDAY, garnered from the men who made the news—the history—or from equally authoritative sources. As important contributions of the "human interest" sort to American history, these articles have a distinctive value all their own.

E. J. Edwards.

"I have been taught that the poet is born, not made, and while that is undoubtedly true, I believe that it is equally true of those who are great masters of organic chemistry and to some extent of applied chemistry."

I was chatting with the late Charles Dudley, who was a college mate of mine at New Haven, and with whom the intimacy then begun was continued as long as he lived. Dr. Dudley gained international reputation as one of the ablest of American chemists. He was for years in charge of the great laboratories of the Pennsylvania railroad at Altoona. In that service he made discoveries which were of inestimable value to the railway companies of the world.

"I often think of the truth of what I have just said to you, namely that the great organic chemists are born and not made when I reflect upon the career of Charles M. Warren," he continued. I think a monument should be erected to this man. His achievements were of incalculable importance to the modern world of industry. Yet he was always principally and at heart a man of pure science, devoted to original research, caring more for his discoveries than he did for the commercial value of them. Do you know the world really owes more to Warren than it does to that great group of capitalists who developed commercially the products of the oilfield of the mid-west? They, however, are extolled as great benefactors, although some of them are pretty severely criticised as financiers, while Dr. Warren is practically forgotten.

"He was a poor boy who worked in a little plow manufactory near Manchester, Vermont, in the daytime and studied at night. He studied to good effect, for something which he had taught himself in the manufactory led him to the development of a certain industry which he undertook to establish at Cincinnati. He wanted money enough to enable him to study. His Cincinnati venture was successful, and he was able, when a little under thirty years of age, to enter the scientific department of Harvard university, relying upon the income from the Cincinnati business for his support.

"Now just at this time occurred an incident which explains my meaning in saying that the great organic chemist is born. Dr. Warren manufactured a commodity which made use of coal tar, then an absolute refuse or waste of gas works. He could have made a great fortune had he devoted himself entirely to the manufacture of the article in which coal tar was used. He observed, however, certain peculiar properties unsuspected by any other person in coal tar, and he determined to makes investigations along the lines of original research.

"He discovered by organic chemistry the wonderful latent possibilities that were in coal tar, and this discovery led him also to investigate petroleum oil, which was known to exist in Pennsylvania and Ohio, but which was regarded almost as a nuisance. In a pure spirit of investigation and research, Warren experimented with petroleum, and at last, by a method of distillation which his researches taught him to perfect, he converted crude oil into illuminating oil. I think he was only a little past thirty years of age when he made this discovery. So far as I know, it never netted him a cent. His process was utilized, I think, about 1863, and it demonstrated that the oil fields of the United States and of the world possessed an element which, under treatment discovered by a student of research, would yield a perfect illuminating oil.

"After that capital, of course, stepped in. But it was the creative impulse characteristic of Dr. Warren which led him to make the investigation along the lines, of pure science, and not with any commercial purpose in mind, which has resulted in giving the world one of its greatest manufactures."

STENOGRAPHER WANTED

By George Matthew Adams.

Stenographer Wanted—Somewhere in this busy city is a Stenographer that is Wanted. Young, neat, of good family, educated, she clicks away at her type keys with evenness and with care. Accurate, attentive, enthusiastic, she works through the hours with speed in her work and joy in her heart, and all backed by a good level head. She uses her Brains as well as her Fingers. She is making good. She would make good anywhere. That is why she is Wanted today by scores of Business Men. She takes an interest not only in her own work at hand, but in the work of her Employer. She constantly seeks for new chances to help and to grow. Her Character is felt in the office and it radiates its influence of strength wherever she goes and in whatever she does. She is not the Girl-here-today, Girl-there-tomorrow sort. That is another reason why she is Wanted by dozens of other Concerns. Prompt at her duties in the morning, she has no concern for the Clock. Courteous, cheerful, thoughtful of the interests of others, she demands respect—and gets it. Of the Gum chewing, Candy eating Vanity box, office Cult she is not a part. Work to her is a Business and a Training. Also, it's a Development that she prizes and takes pride in. She sees Visions and Value and Personal Growth that no pay envelope could possibly hold. As stated, this young lady is Wanted—Wanted badly. Every Business house in this city is in imperative need of her. Her services are Wanted TODAY! She will need no further qualifications than those named as already having. But will she kindly—without fail—call TODAY? She may call at any Business house in this city for she is Wanted by them ALL.

The World's Mysteries

MYSTERIES of ANTIQUITY

HOW WERE THE PYRAMIDS BUILT?

Although there is much mystery about the construction of many ancient structures, there is nothing to which such careful study has been given as to how the ancient Egyptians were able to build the wonderful Pyramids which today stand as colossal monuments of ancient construction.

These great masses of stone have stood for at least four thousand years. The true pyramidal construction is seen only in Egypt, and along the banks of the Nile, and none of these is credited with having been built at a later period than 2,000 years B. C. Every one is familiar with the general construction of these massive monuments, but no one seems to know how the Egyptians were able to accomplish their building with the inadequate facilities that they possessed for the conveying and placing of heavy bodies.

Many archaeologists believe these vast piles, especially the great Pyramid of Cheops at Gizeh, to have been constructed under divine inspiration, and to embody in the living rock great astronomical facts and mathematical principles, and memorials of a system of weights and measures for universal use.

One thing that has been especially noted in these Pyramids is the wonderful accuracy of measurement. In the great Pyramid of Gizeh the four sides have a mean error of only six-tenths of an inch, and twelve seconds in angle from a perfect square. The construction of this Pyramid is thought to have employed 100,000 men for thirty years or more—probably half a century.

The mechanical means employed by the builders have been partly ascertained. The hard stones, granite, diorite and basalt, were, in all fine work, sawn into shape by bronze saws set with jewels. Hollows were made by tubular drilling and tools like our modern diamond rock drills, and small articles were turned in lathes fitted with mechanical tool rests and jewel-pointed tools. The questions of the transport and management of such huge stones, weighing oftentimes more than thirty tons apiece, remain still to be answered.

Herodotus thus describes the building of the Pyramid of Cheops, and his deductions are probably as correct as those of any archaeologist of today, for the modern investigators have had to depend very much on the ancients for their interpretations of inscriptions, etc.:—

"This Pyramid was first built in the form of a flight of steps. After the workmen had completed the pyramid in this form, they raised the other stones by means of machines, made of short beams, from the ground to the first tier of steps. After the stone was placed there it was raised to the second tier by another machine, for there were as many machines as there were tiers of steps; or perhaps the same machine, if it was easily moved.

"The highest part of the Pyramid was thus finished first, the parts adjoining it were taken next, and the lowest part, that nearest the earth, was taken last. It was recorded on the Pyramid, in Egyptian writing, how many radishes, onions and roots of garlic had been distributed among the workmen, and if I rightly remember what the interpreter who read the writing for me, told me, the money they cost amounted to sixteen hundred talents of silver (upwards of $1,750,000). If this was really true, how much more then must have been spent on the iron with which they worked, and on the food and clothing of the workmen, seeing that they worked for more than ten years, and I believe that no shorter time could have been occupied with quarrying and transporting the stones, and with the work and the excavations under the surface of the earth."

Viewing these great structures of stone, after one's amazement at their enormity has passed, one's next great wonderment is as to how they were ever brought about. It has never been learned that their builders possessed means for carrying and lifting such heavy stones, which are not in use today, and if such is the case, it is most mysterious as to how the work was accomplished, even with the great number of men employed over a period of so many years.

RACE SUICIDE.

By E. E. RITTENHOUSE, Conservation Commissioner, the Equitable Life Assurance Society of U. S.

Atlanta, like every other city, has a large number of thoughtful, public-spirited citizens who are deeply concerned in the great problems affecting the happiness of our race.

These people give their influence, their time and many of them their money, to promote the material and spiritual welfare of the community in which they reside. They are especially interested in the various phases of educational work that will promote the public good.

They have doubtless concluded long since that the so-called problem of race suicide is a danger that threatens ultimate race RACE SUICIDE—ANY DAY—ED UAGE extinction; that it goes so deeply into our social life that its solution must depend upon the individual and not upon the public, or community action.

There is, however, an angle from which this problem can be approached and in which they and all citizens who wish to serve humanity can give substantial aid.

It is freely conceded that the birth rate is declining and larger families are urged in order to maintain a safe surplus of births over deaths.

Is it not a fact that while modern civilization is responsible for a declining birth rate it has also provided us with a new life-saving knowledge wherewith to offset this loss?

By a limited application of this knowledge we have already materially reduced the infant death rate in this country. But still there are over 200,000 babies under the age of 5 dying annually from preventable disease in the United States.

Which do we need the most—more babies or more humane treatment of the lives already given us?

Which is the most important to our race—an increase in the annual supply of lives or a decrease in the annual sacrifice?

Which do we need the most—larger families or more families?

Would not a large number of small families be better for our race than a small number of large families? Which is preferable, quality or quantity?

Under modern conditions, will not a small family of children stand a better chance to be properly nurtured and educated than a large family of children?

We lose from preventable cause about 650,000 lives of all ages annually. If we would save the infant lives we are now wasting and prolong the other lives that are needlessly destroyed every year the surplus of births over deaths would be automatically increased. This would occur not only because of the lives prolonged, but by the offspring of those lives.

Surely if it is important that we increase the birth rate, it is of still greater importance that we reduce the death rate.

Every American citizen, if his interest can be stimulated in this life-saving problem, can contribute to reduce this life waste at the cost of very slight effort on his part.

How can we educate our people to guard their own lives against preventable disease, and to support community action in guarding the community against avoidable sickness and death?

We can do it by the same process that has already cut in half the death rate from a number of preventable diseases.

The fact that the death rate has been reduced about 25 per cent in the past 30 years is chiefly due to the spread of knowledge of right living and of disease prevention by the press of the land, by the public health service, the medical profession and other official and unofficial agencies. They have taught us how to avoid many diseases. They have demonstrated in many ways that the public is open to suggestion; that the people are willing to learn and also to correct erroneous ideas regarding health, however deeply they may be seated.

We have within 30 years learned to sleep with our windows open winter and summer. An educational campaign has almost stopped the annual Fourth of July slaughter. It is but three or four years since the existence of the hookworm disease in some of our states was denounced as nonsense, but the very people who took this view have been convinced, and tens of thousands have been relieved of this vitality-sapping infection.

Our increase in sanitary knowledge has made it possible to change the Panama canal zone from a deadly pest hole into a healthful resort which is now being visited by thousands of unacclimated northern people.

Let us assume that the people of Atlanta should determine to provide the necessary funds for their official and unofficial health organizations to conduct a systematic and permanent campaign of education on the conservation of health and life. How long would they be in financing such a movement? They would do it as quickly as they have financed their various other community undertakings for which the city is famous.

Atlanta is noted for its appreciation of classical music, and it does not hesitate to secure the world's greatest singers for the pleasure and enjoyment of its people.

What would happen if the good people of Atlanta should develop the same enthusiasm and generosity in behalf of their 1,200 people who die from preventable disease annually?

It would soon become famous as the most healthful of all cities.

Naturally, everybody wants to see preventable misery and life waste eliminated. Expressions of sympathy and regret, however sincere, will not eliminate them.

To get results this natural desire must be crystallized into action by the leaders and teachers of man.

GOOD TASTE

By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

Good taste is a mysterious something which, when added to $24.50 worth of clothes, makes a woman beautifully dressed, while $1,876 worth of duds minus good taste is making another woman look like a portable scarecrow.

Good taste is caused by a sensitive eye, which is easily pained by jarring colors and designs in clothes, wall paper and office buildings. To soothe his eye, a man with good taste will sometimes spend two hours in picking out a necktie which will harmonize with his aura. When a man has this much good taste he ought to take something for it.

Good taste is closely related to fashions, but like most relatives, the two have little to do with each other. The woman who follows the fashions closely will sometimes get several thousand miles away from good taste and will forget the way back.

Good taste has nothing to do with eating. A man can have good taste without possessing a tongue. However, he will sometimes have difficulty in advertising the fact. Good taste can indicate a woman's refinement and prosperity without compelling her to put diamonds in her ears, and good taste makes a man depend more upon clean linen for good looks than upon shouting vests.

Incredible amounts of good taste can often be found in a home which was furnished at a small cost. On the other hand, many a new-laid millionaire unloads a shipload of imported crockery and furniture into a forty-acre mansion and discovers afterward that he has crowded all the good taste out of the house.

It is sometimes difficult to tell just what is good taste. In this case the object in question should be allowed to sit around for fifty years. If it still looks good it is "Jarring colors and shapes in clothes," probably in good taste. When a house or a chair or a gown or a staircase can be admired long after their particular style has gone into history, they are a safe investment for the person who is more interested in taste than in novelty.

Comparative Digestibility of Food

Made with different Baking Powders

From a Series of Elaborate Chemical Tests:

An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of three different kinds of baking powder—cream of tartar, phosphate, and alum—and submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time.

The relative percentage of the food digested is shown as follows:

Bread made with Royal Cream of Tartar Powder:

100 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with phosphate powder:

68¼ Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with alum powder:

67¾ Per Cent. Digested

These tests, which are absolutely reliable and unprejudiced, make plain a fact of great importance to everyone: Food raised with Royal, a cream of tartar Baking Powder, is shown to be entirely digestible, while the alum and phosphate powders are found to largely retard the digestion of the food made from them.

Undigested food is not only wasted food, but it is the source of very many bodily ailments.

WHILE LAMEY SANG OF WEDDING BELLS ALIMONY WAS GIVEN

While Jack Lamey was blithely singing yesterday in a moving picture house, "I'm going to be married tomorrow, I'm going to leave joy for sorrow," attorneys in the superior court were obtaining from Judge Bell a consent decree whereby the singer must pay to Mrs. June McEachron Lamey the sum of $60 per month as allmony, and were arranging the other details of a settlement of the marital troubles of the pair.

Mrs. Lamey, who, as June McEachron, proved one of the south's most attractive child actresses, and who is now under contract to join Gus Edwards in vaudeville next season, was married at daybreak one Sunday morning to Lamey. For a short time the couple were apparently happy, but in a recent petition for divorce she declared him "a beast in mind," and stated that he spent his nights in drunken revelry and his days in his vaudeville work, and that she had grown tired of only seeing him for about fifteen minutes a day at an 11 o'clock breakfast.

By the terms of the agreement signed by the couple, Mrs. Lamey is to receive the above alimony, beginning March 1, and in the event of the birth of an expected child, is to receive $50 additional. The court decree also provides that, in the event she secures employment, that the alimony is to be only $20 per month if the child lives, and nothing if the child should die. Should the child die, Lamey is to pay her $50 per month as long as she is not employed. Lamey also agreed to pay her attorney's fees and the court costs.

$8,500 SUBSCRIBED FOR CONVENTION BUREAU

Over $8,500 of the required $10,000 has been subscribed for the Atlanta convention bureau, and plans for its organization were discussed yesterday at the first meeting of the special chamber of commerce sub-committee. This committee will report back to a meeting of the subscribers to the convention bureau with by-laws and a plan of procedure. The special subcommittee consists of J. R. A. Hobson, chairman; W. W. Orr, St. Elmo Massengale, H. N. Dutton and C. D. Knight.

"Everyone should see 'Bought and Paid For.' It is intense, and perfectly acted."—Sidney Ormond.

SPECIAL DELIVERY FEATURE PLEASING PARCEL POST USERS

With the installation of the special delivery feature of the parcel post service, postoffice officials declare that the greatest usefulness of the system will be attained, and they expect that in the Atlanta office the special delivery feature will be so popular that the messenger force will have to be almost doubled.

The order was received by Postmaster McKee Friday from Washington authoring the receiving and immediate delivery of parcel post packages, carrying a special delivery 10-cent stamp or 10 cents in ordinary stamps and marked "special delivery."

Information has come to the postmaster from a fertilizer concern of Atlanta that they would dispatch by mail garden fertilizer direct to the consumers, thus eliminating the middle man. Many different kinds of packages, including mainly perishable goods, will be sent by this method.

WAR AMONG POWERS FEARED IN BELGIUM

Brussels, February 28.—Apprehensions of a possible war between the great European powers appear to exist among members of the Belgian cabinet and are shared by leaders of the opposition parties. The latter have been taken into the confidence of the ministry with the object of making the pending increases of the Belgian army non-partisan in character.

M. Hymans, leader of the liberals in the house of representatives, declared today:

"Belgium, in the event of the outbreak of war, would become the battleground of Europe. The country must do its utmost to prepare for its defense."

FORGER PUNISHES SELF BY GOUGING OUT EYES

Los Angeles, February 28.—Arrested for a series of small forgeries, A. J. Heinn, founder of a manufacturing company of Milwaukee, gouged out both of his eyes with a small knife today in self-punishment.

"I do not believe in suicide," said he, "but I shall never see daylight again or forge another check, and I am more at peace than I have been for some time."

FINANCE COMMITTEE BUSY ON JUNE SHEET

Purchase of Dargan Park Is Given Consideration at First Meeting.

The finance committee of city council yesterday discussed the matter of the purchase of Dargan Park on Lucile avenue.

The finance committee was asked to provide $7,500 in the June apportionment sheet for the purchase of the property for park purposes.

The park board negotiated with J. T. Dargan for the use of the property for a playground, and it was used for that purpose until recently. At a meeting of council in the latter part of 1912, Councilman Andrews offered a resolution pledging the moral obligation of the city to purchase the property.

Since that time objection has arisen from another section of the ward against the purchase of the property, and a suggestion was made that the Hollerman property be purchased for $25,000. On the strength of the Andrews resolution, Mr. Dargan told the committee that he made arrangements to dispose of the property to the city.

Committee to Investigate.

Chairman W. G. Humphrey, of the finance committee, said that he did not think the property was suitable for a playground, and appointed as a committee Alderman Harwell and Councilmen Colcord and Sisson to make an investigation.

Mayor Woodward put the committee on notice that if it intends to purchase the property he would expect that the resolution go before council in the regular channels; that he will oppose the city taking over the property on the moral obligation plan.

The committee started making up the June apportionment sheet, and judging from the demands made at the first meeting, the next four months will be lively.

The committee will report a resolution to council Monday afternoon, urging that $300 be set aside for the purpose of having an index made of the records of the comptroller's department.

The resolution urging an appropriation of $2,000 for the purchase of an automobile for the use of Mayor Woodward was considered favorably.

The transfer of $141.51 from the contingent fund to bills payable in the school department was authorized.

Will Test Meters.

The committee agreed to give $75 for the purchase of a machine for testing meters by the smoke department.

A report favoring paying $2,700 from the premium bond fund of the water department for the purchase of the Ottley property on Howell's Mill road will be referred to council. The property is to be purchased to relieve the danger of contaminating the waer supply by drains from open surface closets on the property.

The committee will pass on the advisability of spending money to preserve the records in the departments of the mayor and tax assessors at the next meeting.

Aldermen Harwell and Ragsdale and Chairman Humphrey will investigate the offer of J. A. Buell to sell the city a portion of his property to open Thirteenth street.

The Walton Realty company will receive a refund of $36 excess in the cost of putting a sidewalk on Nassau street.

ALFRED HENRY LEWIS GOT SUMS FROM THAW

Albany, N. Y., February 28.—Horace A. Hoffman, who said he had been in the employ of Harry K. Thaw as a "messenger," today told Governor Sulzer's committee of inquiry his version of the latest attempt to liberate Harry K. Thaw from Matteawan.

On November 19, 1912, he said Thaw gave him an envelope containing Consolidated Gas stocks and $5,000 in cash for John Nicholson Anhut, the lawyer.

Hoffman corroborated Anhut's testimony regarding the "contingent retainer" of $25,000. On January last Anhut returned 100 shares of the stock and Hoffman sold them for "nearly $14,000" under Thaw's direction.

Hoffman told of having carried messages to Alfred Henry Lewis, of New York, for Thaw and of having heard Lewis and Thaw talking at Matteawan "about writing some stuff, some things Thaw thought the people ought to know."

The witness admitted having paid money to Lewis for Thaw, the amount of which he declined to state. "I supposed I was paying him for the writing he was going to do," added Hoffman, who said he also had paid Lewis "some expense money."

INTERSTATE COMMERCE HEARING COMES TO END

Judge Judson C. Clements, of the interstate commerce commission, will probably leave Atlanta today, finishing the hearing of the newspaper freight rate case, which has been argued before him on Thursday and Friday. Representatives of the local papers appeared before Judge Clements and testified as to their present rates on white print paper and the different rates in other quarters.

The evidence of this case, as also the LaGrange discrimination case, has been taken down by official stenographers, and will be considered in detail by the entire interstate commerce commission. Judgments are expected by June or July.

MISS WILLIE PARK DIES IN SHANGHAI, CHINA

Sylvania, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—News was received by Mrs. W. L. Mathews, of Sylvania, this week of the death of her sister, Miss Willie Park, at Shanghai, China, on February 19. She had been doing missionary work in Japan until a few months ago, when she went to Shanghai, where her sister, Miss Clara Park, was also engaged in the same work, and was operated on at the hospital there. Miss Park was a young woman of bright mind and noble heart, and many friends in Georgia will mourn her end. She was the daughter of Rev. William Park, who for many years was an editor at Sandersville, Ga.

ATLANTA BUSINESS LEADERS BACK REORGANIZATION PLAN OF THE COSMOPOLITAN LIFE

Complete reorganization of the Cosmopolitan Life Insurance company, with J. O. Wynn, former southern representative of the Prudential Insurance company, as president, and such men as Asa G. Candler, John W. Grant, Robert F. Maddox, James W. English, Joseph A. McCord, W. L. Peel and a score of others as stockholders, is now on foot.

The reorganization committee, headed by M. M. Riley, plans to purchase the assets of the company at the sale ordered March 10 by the court, and it is stated that already the committee has the proxies of more than half of the stockholders who have paid for their stock. The plan outlined is for as many of the present stockholders as desire to purchase the old company and with the assistance of the financial backing and influence of the new stockholders to make the new company one of the strongest in the south.

Assets Worth $300,000.

The company now has approximately $300,000 worth of assets, consisting of first mortgages and other valuable holdings, and on its books is some $2,500,000 worth of insurance. It is planned that the Atlantans who join in the reorganization shall put in dollar for dollar with the stock of the present stockholders who go into the venture.

The reorganization, it is agreed and ordered by court, can only take place with the approval of the insurance department, which now has charge of it. Mr. Wynn secured in one afternoon's work the names of thirty-two Atlanta capitalists ready to back the plan with their money. Others will be added to this list. He has been asked by the present stockholders to become president and has indicated that he will probably do so.

Mr. Wynn is the man who brought the Preudential Life Insurance company into the south and placed it upon the firm footing which it has held since then, and he is regarded as one of the most capable men in his line of business. Coupled with this has gone a reputation for honesty and integrity that has not been questioned.

How Purchase Can Be Made.

Under the plan approved by the court any group of the stockholders can purchase the assets of the company, or another set of men may buy it outright. With the present plan the assets will be purchased by a majority of stockholders and all who desire to do so may join them.

Settlements have been ordered by the court with J. F. Armistead, organizer of the original company, whereby he is to dissolve all connection with the concern, and it is stated that he will have no interest in the new company. By the court's order also none of the many litigants whose claims were ordered settled will receive their money until the company is reorganized and put on a firm basis, and by this means all the differing factions have got together and are working for the success of the reorganization plan.

Mr. Wynn's Statement.

Mr. Wynn made the following statement in regard to the work he has undertaken:

"My activities in attempting to reorganize the business of the Cosmopolitan Life Insurance company came about not on my own initiative, but through the fact that the insurance commissioner, Comptroller General William A. Wright, and the reorganization committee of the stockholders asked me if I would not assist them with their plans of reorganization in order to take the assets and business which could be saved from the old company and make it a first-class insurance company.

"I found on investigation that, notwithstanding the unfortunate circumstances which had attended this company in the last few months, it still had on hand several hundred thousand dollars' worth of good assets and had a considerable amount of good insurance on its books and that it had the neuclus of what could be made into an absolutely safe insurance company. After conferring fully with the stockholders' committee who were engaged in the plans of reorganization we determined that it would be desirable to have additional capital and the backing of a number of the best business men in the city of Atlanta.

"I approached a number of business men in Atlanta of the highest standing and found that they responded with promptness and liberality, and it is true that a large number of the very best business men in Atlanta, men of unquestionable integrity, have expressed their willingness to take stock in the company which this stockholders' committee is now engaged in organizing out of the assets of the old and have already signed an agreement in writing to this effect.

"These Atlanta people do not propose to buy the new company, but merely to co-operate with the old stockholders, the new blood putting in actual cash as against an equivalent value of assets put in by the old stockholders. It is not a plan for these new stockholders to absorb the old company, but we are merely assisting the stockholders' committee in carrying out their plans of reorganization."

Judge Powell Pleased.

In regard to the plan on foot, Judge Arthur G. Powell, who has been assisting the stockholders' committee in handling the matter, and who prepared what is known as the "Powell plan" of reorganization, said:

"One of the directions given to the committee and to the insurance commissioner at the stockholders' meeting and made a part of what is known as the Powell plan, was that the insurance commissioner would endeavor to enlist the co-operation of one or more men of experience and ability to take an active part in the management and organization of the new company, and also to see if additional money could not be secured through the sale of additional stock to men whose connection with the company would give it standing and influence.

"General Wright, after consulting with a number of those who were interested in the matter determined that there was no man in the south more available to take charge of this work than J. O. Wynn, whose success in handling insurance affairs was so well-known, and whose reputation for honesty was so well established as to leave these things beyond question. Mr. Wynn has been working with the committee and with the department for several days upon plans which, in my judgment, will make the new company absolutely safe and will probably save hundreds of thousands of dollars to the stockholders throughout the state of Georgia who have invested their money in the old company.

"It is very fortunate indeed that he has secured the co-operation of the business men of Atlanta, the names of a number of whom have already been signed to a written statement that they are willing to back the company with their capital and influence."

Atlantans Who Will Aid.

The following have already signed an agreement to join in the reorganization with the present stockholders:

W. L. Peel, Asa G. Candler, John W. Grant, W. L. Cosgrove, W. T. Ashford, Robert F. Maddox, W. G. Humphrey, John D. Little, W. S. Elkin, James D. Robinson, J. W. English, Joseph A. McCord, W. J. Blalock, Willis E. Ragin, R. A. Hemphill, George R. Donovan, Frank M. Inman, Hollins N. Randolph, John S. Cohen, J. H. Ewing, J. R. Smith, E. H. Inman, J. Levin, Charles L. Ryan, W. S. Elkin, Jr., R. O. Howard, Thomas B. Paine, J. K. Orr, James L. Dickey, Jr., S. Y. Tupper, A. B. Simmons and W. E. Chapin.

BANDITS HOLD UP TRAIN.

Two Robbers Wounded in Battle With Crew.

Huntington, W. Va., February 28.—Masked men held up a fast freight train on the Norfolk and Western railroad last night at Alwick, 35 miles from Williamson, W. Va. Two of the bandits, it is believed, were wounded in a revolver duel.

The scene of the hold-up is an isolated mountain spot. Evidently the bandits believed they were stopping a passenger train. Wires were cut and only meager details filtered in here late today.

From what has been learned, the men flagged the train. When they discovered it was a freight they opened fire, shooting into the freight cars and sending a steady stream of shot along either side of the train. After the first shock the train crew returned the fire. Two of the three bandits were seen to fall, but aided by the third, regained their feet and retreated up a mountain side.

Warnings were sent to nearby points by messengers. Tonight many persons have volunteered to hunt down the men, and posses are scattered throughout the mountains.

TUB TRUST ESCAPES SECOND INDICTMENT

Detroit, February 28.—Attorney General Wickersham today notified the local district attorney to quash the pending indictment against members of the so-called bathtub trust who were recently convicted of criminal conspiracy in restraint of trade.

The pending indictment is also a criminal one charging combination in restraint of trade.

A few days ago several of the defendants filed a bill for a new trial, but yesterday they announced they would make no further protest against their sentences, which ranged in fines from $1 to $1,000, if the second indictment was dropped.

WOULD STOP CHANGE IN SIZE OF PAPER MONEY

Washington, February 28.—Senator Sheppard, of Texas, today introduced a bill forbidding a change of size or color of paper money without the consent of congress. Plans have been made by the treasury department to reduce the size of the bills within the next few weeks.

PAVING MATERIAL BRINGS A PROTEST

Residents on Walnut Street Make Objections to Construction Department.

Residents on Walnut, between Simpson and Jones avenue, protested yesterday morning against the material put on the street by the construction department.

The principal objection, according to a resident on the street, was that the city mixed brick and other unsuitable material in with the chert. They said the city agreed to put down a permanent pavement, with the understanding that the best sort of material would be secured.

Confronted with the complaints of the property owners, Engineer Nym Hurt, who had charge of the street work, declared that they were not justifiable. He explained that the construction department secured the rock from the stone wall torn from the site of the old crematory on Hulsey street.

"It is true that there were particles of brick mixed in with the chert," Engineer Hurt said, "but there was not enough to fill a wagon. The job is a good one. The foundation of the street is good, and the pavement is permanent."

To Appeal Dorr Case.

Salem, Mass., February 28.—Attorneys for William A. Dorr, who was convicted yesterday of murdering George E. Marsh, of Lynn, announced today they would appeal the case.

Mrs. Lokey's Luncheon.

Mrs. Hugh Lokey's luncheon yesterday was a delightful occasion, assembling ten young married women to meet Mrs. Frank Swift, of New York.

The house was gay with jonquils and narcissi, and the luncheon table had as its principal decoration a silver loving cup of pink roses and narcissi. Artistic detail of color was in pink and white.

To Mrs. Phinizy.

Mrs. W. A. Wright entertained informally at luncheon yesterday in compliment to Mrs. Charles Phinizy, of Athens. A matinee party was given at the Grand Wednesday for Mrs. Phinizy, and other informal entertainment marked her brief visit. Mrs. Phinizy will return home Sunday.

Children's Party.

Miss Frances Ellis entertained forty of her little friends at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ellis, yesterday, the occasion celebrating her birthday.

The house was gay with spring flowers, and delicious refreshments were served from the dining room, where the table was in pink and white, its centerpiece of roses and narcissi.

Newnan Social News.

The Crochet club of Newnan won the state prize offered in Everybody's Magazine for giving the best trial of "Jennie Brice."

Several other cities and towns in the state were contestants, and Newnan is proud of the distinction of winning it. The case was tried by the best talent that the state could afford, Judge R. W. Freeman, on the bench for the state; W. C. Wright, for the defense; A. H. Freeman, prosecuting attorney; Mr. Weatherly, of Buchannon, Ga., stenographer; J. D. Brewster, sheriff; Lynch Turner, clerk. The prisoner at the bar, H. H. North; witnesses (members of the Crochet club), Mesdames J. T. Kirby, A. M. Norris, Sanders Gibson, R. O. Jones, H. M. Fisher and Robert Mattox; Messrs. R. L. Stanford, Colonel York, E. M. and J. T. Carpenter and J. E. Brown. The jury was made up of Newnan citizens.

The Crochet club is composed of twenty prominent Newnan ladies. Their president, Mrs. Mike Powell, is gifted with remarkable executive ability and charming originality, and, assisted by the members of her club, has contributed to the city's social welfare and public spirit. With the $100 as the prize and $100 door receipts, the total sum will be used for civic improvements.

For Miss Stewart.

Mrs. J. Clyde Fuller entertained at a delightful bridge tea yesterday afternoon at her home on Boulevard place in compliment to Miss Frances Stewart, a bride-elect. Quantities of jonquils decorated the house. The prizes were pieces of white and gold china. A stocking shower was a feature of the afternoon.

Mrs. Fuller wore a black velvet gown, and her guests were Miss Frances Stewart, Miss Kate Blacknall, Miss Effie Sharp, Miss Fannie May Steck, Miss Pauline Steck, Miss Lena Cox, Miss Mattie Cox, Miss Sadie Morrison, Miss Mary Smith, Miss Phillips, Mrs. Thaddeus Morrison, Mrs. Alfred Turner, Mrs. Jack Hammond, Mrs. Frank L. Stanton, Mrs. Jack Henson, Mrs. Fred Stewart, Mrs. Thomas Stewart, Mrs. Gay, Mrs. Hodges and Mrs. Bryan.

Birthday Party.

The pretty suburban home of Mrs. Samuel W. Bell in Oakland City was the scene of a gay gathering of young people on last Monday evening, when Mrs. Bell entertained informally in honor of her niece, Miss Lottie Mae Bell, the occasion Miss Bell's sixteenth birthday. The little guest of honor was a picture of loveliness in white marquisette over pink satin, trimmed with bands of beads.

The house was tastefully decorated with jonquils. Games and refreshments were enjoyed.

Those present were Misses Lottie Mae Bell, Lenora Whitaker, Sarah Fox, Lillie Mae Stephens, Estelle Withers, Bessie Carmen, Nellie Carmen, Mary Bell, Fannie Bell Verner, Eloise Callahan, Kate Smith, Alice Baker; Messrs. John Roberts, Marion Mason, Clements Callahan, Elijah Whitaker, Henry Tull, Howard White, Eugene Burke, Howard Upchurch, Lewis Phillips, Paul Ward, L. O. Kimberly, Sims and Barrow.

Those assisting Mrs. Bell in dispensing the hospitalities were Mrs. A. B. Bell, Mrs. Leonard Johnson and Mrs. A. H. Brandhorst.

CAPITOL GOSSIP.

Rate Sticks on Flypaper.

The state railroad commission yesterday declined to reduce the carload freight rate on flypaper, as was requested in the petition of W. S. Rogers & Co., of Atlanta. In its petition, the Rogers company claimed that unless a lower rate was granted on this commodity it would be unable to manufacture it and market it at a profit. While the commission did not states its reasons for declining the reduction, it is undestood that the body was influenced by the improbability of a reduction of the rate placing the commodity before the consumer at a lower price, the proposition being simply one of taking money from the pockets of the railroads and placing it in that of the manufacturer.

Henslar Will Resign and Sue.

H. K. Henslar, convict warden for Walton county, called upon Chairman R. E. Davidson, of the state prison commission, yesterday, and announced that, on account of alleged political friction, he will resign his position as warden and enter suit against Walton county for $200 for his services and $500 for damages. Chairman Davidson has issued a statement branding as untrue the report emanating from Monroe that the commission has demanded the resignation of Warden Henslar. The Walton county grand jury recently passed a resolution urging the prison commission to investigate the convict camps of Walton county and "remove the cause of any friction that may be found to exist," and also recommended that the ordinary pay Mr. Henslar for his services as provided in his contract upon Mr. Henslar's surrender of that contract to the ordinary.

Carolina Follows Georgia's Example.

The state of North Carolina has passed a law similar to the one in effect in Georgia, placing the registering and collection of automobile license tax in the hands of the secretary of state. Secretary of State Phil Cook, of Georgia, has received a letter from Secretary of State Grimes, of North Carolina, asking various kinds of information regarding the law.

Treasury Makes Two Payments.

The state treasury department yesterday issued warrants for two good sized payments, one to the state sanitarium, at Milledgeville, and the other for the school teachers' salaries in about ten counties, on the 1912 account. The Milledgeville check is for $24,000. The sum going to the teachers at this time is $16,626.93.

HUNTING SEASON ENDS AND BIRDS ARE HAPPY

"Season Is Too Long," Says Warden Mercer—Should Close by February 1.

The hunting season closed yesterday and the man who fares forth with his gun today had better keep a weather eye for State Game Warden Jesse Mercer or some of his crew, for they are, nose to the ground, after the violator of the game law this morning.

"I just want to see a man who looks like he even wants to go hunting on the first day of March," said Warden Mercer. "I'll get him sure, and what's more, I'll be as merciless to him as he has been to the birds during the last month.

"More doves and partridges were killed during the month of February," he continued, "than during all the rest of the season put together. The slaughter has been appalling. There were comparatively few birds killed in February of last year because the weather was not good, but this February has had many fine hunting days in it and the hunters have availed themselves of their opportunities so strenuously that they have well nigh exterminated Georgia's birds.

"If the state does not cut the season down to February 1 it will not be long until there will be no birds in Georgia."

INDIANAPOLIS LIFE MEN TAKE JAUNT TO ATLANTA

Fifteen agents of the Indianapolis National Life Insurance company were visitors to Atlanta this week. They were the members of the "One Hundred Thousand Dollar club" of the company, and every agent in the party had written at least $100,000 in business during the year past. The party were the guests of Everett Wagner, general agent, and came to Atlanta from Indianapolis in a private car.

C. D. Renick, president of the company, was a member of the party. W. A. Groom was president of the One Hundred Thousand Dollar club. The members of the party enjoyed a banquet at the Georgian Terrace Tuesday evening. The Indianapolis National Life is represented in this section by the United Realty company.

JOHNS HOPKINS ALUMNI WILL BANQUET TONIGHT

Atlanta alumni of the Johns Hopkins Medical college in Baltimore will gather for a banquet this evening at the Capital City club. Dr. Thomas Boggs will come from Baltimore to represent the university at the banquet, and will make an address at the gathering.

The banquet will begin at 7 o'clock, and preparations are being made for an elaborate affair that will be enjoyed by a large number of university men.

HELPLESS AS A LITTLE BABY

Pitiful Condition of Mrs. Emey, Down in Mind, Unable to Work, and What Helped.

Summit Point, W. Va.—In advices from this town, Mrs. Anna Belle Emey writes as follows: "I suffered for 15 years with an awful pain in my right side, and ulcers in my stomach, and doctored lots for it, but without success. I suffered so very much, that I became down in mind, and as helpless as a little baby. I was in the worst kind of shape. Was unable to do any of my work.

I saw Cardui, the woman's tonic, advertised, and began taking it. I got relief from the very first dose, and by the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored. I am now 48 years old, but feel as good as I did when only 16.

Cardui certainly saved me from losing my mind, and I feel it my duty to speak in its favor. I wish I had some power over poor, suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them."

If you are a woman and suffer from ailments peculiar to your sex, don't you think it worth your while to give Cardui a trial? It has been helping weak women for more than 50 years. It is almost sure to help you, too.

Try Cardui.

MUZZLES FOR DOGS URGED BY VAN DYKE TO PREVENT RABIES

When Alderman Arthur Van Dyke, former member of the board of health, stepped from the entrance of the city hall yesterday afternoon, a mongrel sidled up, snarled and bow-wowed at him and cantered up crowded Forsyth street.

Aledrman Van Dyke thought the incident rather out of the ordinary, for the reason that just a short while before he made the announcement to the reporters that he had asked City Attorney James L. Mayson to draw up an ordinance requiring straying dogs to be muzzled.

"I guess you'd better withdraw your ordinance," some one of Dr. Van Dyke's friends urged him.

But the eighth ward alderman says he is more determined than ever to put a muzzle on every mongrel in Atlanta, even though the ordinance will break up the favorite pastime of garbage can upsetters.

He says that the records of 673 cases of rabies treated at the Pasteur institute last year, 149 were Atlanta people. He says England had a law enforced last year similar to the one he hopes to adopt in council, and as the result not a case of rabies developed.

Dr. Van Dyke has placed himself in danger of making an enemy of every soup bone wrestling Fido in Atlanta, and owners, too.

BAPTISTS TO MEET AT HAPEVILLE CHURCH

The regular monthly meeting of the Atlanta Baptist Sunday School association will be held Sunday afternoon at the Hapeville Baptist church.

An address will be delivered by W. W. Gaines on "Teacher Training," and an address will also be made by Dr. E. J. Forrester.

John M. Green, president of the association, will preside, and a large representation of the various schools of the organization is urgd. It is specially desired that teachers shall attend, owing to the subject which will be under discussion.

Those desiring to attend will take Hapeville cars, which leave center of town every 5 minutes.

STORM WREAKS TOLL ON COMMUNICATION LINES

Waycross, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—Although this immediate section escaped the severe tornado of Thursday, the damage done by the storm had Waycross almost entirely cut off from communication with the outside world today and until repairs can be made telegraph and telephone service will be very erratic. Only one wire was working out of the city today, to Savannah. Repairs are being made in all directions and linemen hope to have the damages repaired within twenty-four hours. Reports which cover an area of thirty miles do not tell of any damage by the storm.

ELOISE CORSETS

NEW SPRING MODELS

Special Prices for Saturday Only

The ELOISE CORSET has the advantage of being a member of the Mme. Mariette family. It is a much less expensive edition, because of a necessary difference in the boning and materials, but it derives the special benefits of the perfect lines of the Mme. Mariette models.

The prices of Eloise Corsets are usually $2.00 and $3.00. Wishing to introduce them more broadly, we are going to sell these two models today for half-price.

They are made of a good quality of French batiste, trimmed with lace and ribbon. They are new Spring styles, just arrived. At this special price, of course, we can give no fittings.

FREE TOLLS FOR ALL FAVORED BY WILSON

President-Elect Indorses the Amendment of Senator Root to Panama Canal Bill.

Washington, February 28.—President-elect Wilson has made known to democratic senate leaders most closely in his confidence that he favors the passage of Senator Rott's amendment to the Panama canal bill to repeal the provision exempting American coastwise ships from payment of tolls.

It was said today that the new president had made his position plain lately to several democratic senators. It was the subject of remark because Senator O'Gorman, of New York, who has been regarded as more or less of a spokesman for Mr. Wilson, is a sturdy opponent of the Root amendment, and a champion of free passage for American ships.

There is no likelihood of any action on the Root repeal amendment during the few remaining days of the sixty-second congress. It was recently tabled in the senate inter-oceanic canals committee, thus preventing the possibility of even being brought before the senate on a minority report.

It is expected to be renewed at the next congress, probably during the extra session.

Comment in London.

London February 28.—Dispatches from Washington indicating President-elect Woodrow Wilson's attitude toward the Panama tolls controversy have given rise to considerable comment in the English newspapers. All the papers voice their gratification over his alleged attitude. The Westminster Gazette, a leading organ of the British government, says:

"We all very much regretted to find ourselves in conflict with the United States government on a point of this kind. We believe that public opinion in the United States will welcome this changed attitude leading to the avoidance of further controversy."

The Pall Mall Gazette says:

"Dr. Wilson is to be congratulated on striking a true and high notes in this matter upon the eve of his accession. We think repeal of the exemption clause would be far the best solution of a tangle created by the short-sightedness of overreaching politicians."

THEATERS

Frances Starr.

(At the Atlanta.)

Charming Frances Starr is coming to the Atlanta in her latest and greatest success, "The Case of Becky," Manager George having arranged with David Belasco for Miss Starr's appearance here Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Miss Starr comes here direct from a run of three months at the Belasco theater in New York city, where she scored the real triumph of a career that has been made up of more triumphs than usually fall to the lot of actresses of twice her years. The new play was welcomed by the New York critics as a real novelty, and Miss Starr's work was acclaimed on every hand. The play is novel in that the principal character is that of a young woman possessed of a dual personality, changing suddenly from a sweet, charming, refined girl to a vulgar, uneducated hoyden. It is long since any actress has had such an opportunity to display her talent and her versatility. Miss Starr will not be seen again in this play after this season. Seats are now on sale.

"Bought and Paid For."

(At the Atlanta.)

Two more performances of that intensely interesting and remarkable play, "Bought and Paid For," will be given at the Atlanta. This afternoon a popular price matinee will be played, while tonight the last show will be given. Atlantans are urged not to miss it, as it stands at the top of the list of offerings to date. It is the strongest and best-acted play of the season, and deserves unusual attention.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

There will be twelve acting-singing people in Jesse Lasky's pretty playlet, "California," that comes to headline the bill at the Grand next week. This is conceded to be the handsomest headline attraction in all vaudeville, and it has been one of the strongest drawing cards on the Orpheum circuit. Suns' elephants will be another feature for next week that will surely contribute to the drawing power of the show. There is, in addition, good music, good comedy, a novelty sketch and other features to help round out the bill.

"A Winning Miss."

(At the Forsyth.)

"A Winning Miss," one of the best song shows that was ever in the regular circuit, has been set to tabloid form and has been winning favor wherever this new style of entertainment has been introduced. With a company of twenty-five people, mostly pretty girls, the attraction will be at the Forsyth all of next week, three performances daily at the now popular scale of prices. Tabloid musical comedy is getting a stronger grip on the theatergoers as the policy is better understood.

"Everyone should see Bought and Paid For.' It is intense, and perfectly acted."—Sidney Ormond.

SEVENTEENTH OFF ON SUNDAY NIGHT

Fort McPherson Troops, 800 Strong, Leave in Three Trainloads for Inauguration.

Orders were issued yesterday and details announced for the departure of the Seventeenth regiment for Washington, to be present at the inauguration of Woodrow Wilson on March 4.

On Sunday evening, March 2, three trainloads of soldiers will be dispatched from Fort McPherson. Over 800 men will be in the party, between 50 and 75 remaining at the fort in charge of the hospital, barracks, artillery, etc. The first train will probably leave about 8 or 9 o'clock, and the others between that time and midnight. They will reach Washington Monday evening, and will be quartered in infantry barracks at once, appearing in full dress uniform in the inaugural parade on Tuesday.

For five days Fort McPherson will be a lonesome-looking place. The regiment will not leave Washington, according to the plans announced, until the afternoon of March 6, arriving at Atlanta the following evening, Friday, March 7.

Colonel J. T. Van Orsdale, who is actively in charge of the expedition, stated Friday afternoon that he believed there was no doubt but that the regiment would return direct to Fort McPherson, there being hardly any possibility of an immediate invasion of Mexico, which would necessitate the Seventeenth being ordered to the front.

Brigadier General Robert K. Evans journeyed to Fort McPherson Friday just to see the soldiers and talk to them, and discuss the plans for the Washington trip.

Second Lieutenant Allen M. Burdett has been appointed to take charge of the first train in the trip to Washington, Second Lieutenant John H. Hester will command the second train and First Lieutenant William H. Clendenin the third train.

OFF FOR INAUGURATION.

Georgia Troops and Sightseers Going to Washington.

Macon, Ga., February 28.—(Special.) Two special trains leave Macon tomorrow morning en route to Washington to attend the inauguration of President Wilson.

The Central of Georgia's special carries the Macon drum and bugle corps of fifty-four pieces and the three local military companies of fifty men each and in addition two cars with seventy-five other Macon people and one car filled with people from Fort Valley. This special leaves at 10 o'clock.

The Southern railway special will leave at 11 o'clock and will carry about 200 people, twenty-five of whom go as the guests of The Macon News.

Americus Infantry Leave.

Americus, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—The Americus Light Infantry, forty-five strong, and commanded by Captain James Fort and Lieutenants McLendon and Hogue, will leave early tomorrow morning for Washington. The Americus company, through its officers, has extended a cordial invitation to individual members of the Albany Guards to accompany them to Washington tomorrow. The Albany company could not go as an organization. The American troops will occupy special cars throughout the trip to Washington and return. Many prominent citizens, including several ladies, will attend the ceremonies, accompanying the military tomorrow morning.

She Begs Workmen to Find $200 She Lost Wednesday In Collapse of Building

While workmen dug in the ruins of the shattered building at the corner of Whitehall and Trinity Friday afternoon, Mrs. J. P. Ramsey stood by with anxious eyes and begged them to find her lost $200. It was all the money she had in the world, as even the clothes she wore had been borrowed.

In the fall of the building early Wednesday morning, in which Mrs. Ramsey herself had barely escaped with her life, the money had gone crashing to the bottom of the ruins in a dresser drawer. Here it had been kept for a long time. Mrs. Ramsey had been awakened by the sound of crackling walls all around her and had fled from the window to an adjoining roof just a moment before the floor of her room collapsed. She was unable to obtain her clothes, much less her money.

By the tearing down of the remaining roof Thursday night, which was condemned by the building inspector after the tragedy, the money and other property of the roomers were buried even deeper. It will probably be several days before the debris is cleared away to any extent. Meanwhile, Mrs. Ramsey will dream of her little fortune.

Building Inspector Hayes said Friday afternoon that it would be a number of days yet before he would render a report, placing the blame on the properauthority for the collapse of the building which cost the life of Fireman J. I. Gillespie Wednesday morning.

METHODIST UNITES WITH PRESBYTERIAN AT SUNDAY SERVICES

At the Sunday evening service in the Trinity Methodist church this congregation will join with the Central Presbyterian, one of its close neighbors on Washington street, for the regular evening worship. Dr. Dunbar Ogden, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will address the joint congregation.

Dr. J. B. Robins, pastor of Trinity, has been in a serious condition of health for the past few days, at the home of his brother, near Madison, Ga., where he has been staying. He is reported now to be slightly improved and may return to Atlanta in a week or ten days. The Sunday morning subject of Dr. Ogden at the Central Presbyterian will be "The Ministry of Reconciliation."

To Select School Plans.

Waycross, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—Plans for the West Waycross school will be finally considered by the board of education after the building committee goes over them next week, according to the report today. This means that actual work on both schools will start here within a very short while.

SEE PEACE IN BALKANS.

Officials in London Think War Will Soon End.

London, February 28.—Pronounced belief is prevalent in official circles here that peace in the Balkans is imminent. Tewfik Pasha and Hakki Pasha, representing the Ottoman government, paid successive visits to the foreign office this afternoon.

Turkey's offer to conclude hostilities on the basis of the cession of Adrianople to Bulgaria has created general optimism. Turkey, it is understood, demands that her frontier line shall be drawn from Midia, on the Black sea, to Enos, on the Aegean sea, if she gives up Adrianople, and it is believed that Bulgaria will raise no objection to this proposal.

PLYMALE SENTENCED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT

Jackson, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—Butts county superior court adjourned today after a two weeks' busy session. Steven Plymale, a young white man of Flovilla, was tried for the murder of Town Marshal Matt Willard last summer in Flovilla.

The case went to trial Wednesday morning and continued through Thursday afternoon, the jury rendering a verdict of guilty early Friday morning. Judge Robert T. Daniel, of Griffin, presiding, sentenced the young man to life imprisonment.

KNIFE DUELIST TRIED AND FREED BY JURY

Calhoun, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—After deliberating all night and until 8 o'clock this morning, the jury out on the case of Lee Sorrells, charged with assault with attempt to murder, returned a verdict of not guilty. Lee Sorrells and Arthur Wilson, the principals in the affair, became engaged in a difficulty near Sonoraville. They used their knives freely and Wilson was severely cut. Both young men are under 21.

GEORGIA GIVEN PLACE IN SUFFRAGE PARADE

Mrs. Mary L. McLendon, president of the Georgia Woman's Suffrage association, received Thursday a letter from Mrs. Richard Cope Burleson, grand marshal of the suffrage parade in Washington, giving instructions as to the formation of the ranks of women on March 3.

"Your delegation is requested to form in block 9 on New Jersey avenue, between D and E streets, S. E., at 2 o'clock in the afternoon on March 3," reads the letter. "The Georgia women will be just before the delegation from Illinois and just behind that of Florida."

Given Warship Contract.

Washington, February 28.—Secretary Meyer today awarded the contract for the construction of the battleship Pennsylvania, one of the largest in the world, to the Newport News Shipbuilding company at their bid of $7,260,000.

SEN. KERN TO HEAD DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

Martin Will Not Stand for Re-Election and Conflict in Senate Ends.

Washington, February 28.—"I will not be a candidate for re-election as chairman of the democratic caucus of the senate," said Senator Martin, of Virginia, today. He has held that position for the last two years.

This announcement practically closes the contest between the so-called conservative and so-called progressive wings of the democratic party in the senate.

Senator Kern, of Indiana, is the candidate for caucus chairman, which carries with it the honors and responsibilities of leadership of the dominant party in the senate. It is understood that no candidate will be brought to oppose him.

Senator Martin declined to give any reason for his announcement, but it was understood to be due to the general favorable acceptance of Mr. Kern's candidacy.

When Senator Martin's decision became known there were many expressions of regret on both sides of the chamber. He has been very popular personally among republicans as well as democrats. His friends said he would be greatly relieved by a shift of the responsibility attached to party leadership.

The understanding now is the progressives will control the organization of the senate under democratic control, but it is not believed that they will disturb the old conservatives in the chairmanships of committees.

GEORGIA QUINT DEFEATS TECH

By R. L. Hughes

The University of Georgia basketball team for the second time this season administered defeat to the Tech five last night, this time the score being 35 to 20, which showed a much closer margin over the former score which the Red and Black piled up in the classic city.

This was the final game of the season for the Tech quintet. The Jackets were well pleased with cutting Georgia's former score in half with a point to spare, besides scoring eight points more.

The Georgia quintet yet remains to be defeated by a college five, and if they take the game from Auburn next week they will be the undisputed champions of the south.

Although not as close as some of the former battles, it was by far the most exciting and thrilling from the spectators' standpoint. The first half was decidedly the Georgia five's, but the last period was nip and tuck, with the Jackets outplaying the Athenians in the early part of the period.

Georgia started the scoring a few seconds after the referee's whistle and kept up a rapid-fire for some time. The Red and Black's passing was unusually good. Tech guards in this half failed to stick close to their forwards, with the result that the Georgians had advantage of many open shots.

Brown was conspicuous during this half and managed to score the Jackets' only field goal. Peacock at forward put in seven field goals for his five. Three of these were thrown over half the length of the floor. At the end of the half the score was: Georgia 22 and Tech 4.

The Jackets began scoring early in the last half and for a while it seemed as though they would recover the lead Georgia got in the first period. Both teams were inclined to rough it, and the umpire called frequent fouls on the visitors. McCullough sent in at forward at the beginning of the half, played an excellent defensive game.

Bradley, Tech's scrappy little guard, was all over the floor, saving many would-be goals. The last half was the best that has been seen on the local floor this season.

Hoyt, of the Athletic club, deserves much credit for the excellent manner in which he officiated.

The two games scheduled for the Atlanta Basketball league last night were forfeited, a large crowd of enthusiastic fans who had assembled at the Armory being disappointed. A practice game was played to amuse [illegible]

The Atlanta Athletic club forfeited its game to the Fifth Regiment, but waited until 8:15 o'clock before announcing that they would not be able to play, the game being scheduled to start at 8 o'clock, a phone message advising the Fifth Regiment team, which was on the floor in uniform, that the club would not be down to contest.

No reason was given, and efforts to reach Physical Director Joe Bean or some member of the team last night were without avail. Just why the club team waited until this late hour to announce their forfeiture is not explainable.

It was understood for some time that the other game would be forfeited, and those who attended did not expect to see but one contest.

The result of last night's forfeitures gives the club and regimental teams tied for the first position in the league. Whether the tie will be played off or not remains to be seen.

LARRY CHENEY SIGNS.

Holdout Twirler Puts Name to Three-Year Contract.

Chicago, February 28.—Larry Cheney, "the hold-out" pitcher of the Chicago National League Baseball club, signed a three-year contract today, and will leave tonight for Tampa, Fla., to join the team.

BOSTON TEAMS START FOR TRAINING CAMPS

Boston, February 28.—The vanguards of both Boston major league baseball teams started south for the spring training trip today. Only a few members of the world's champion Americans left Boston, but other members will be picked up en route to Hot Springs, Ark.

The Nationals got away for New York, the first stop on the way to Athens, Ga. Ray Collins, the southpaw pitcher, remains the only holdout from the American squad.

The itinerary of the Boston Nationals was announced tonight as follows:

March 21-22, Atlanta at Atlanta; 24-25, Atlanta at Athens; 26, 27, 28, 29, Toronto at Athens; 31, April 1, Buffalo at Charlotte, N. C.; 2, 3, Richmond at Richmond; 4, 5, Washington at Washington; 7, 8, Baltimore at Baltimore.

The team also will play a game with an all-star team to be captained by Ty Cobb, and for which Nap Rucker will pitch. This game will be played prior to March 21.

Manager Stallings telegraphed to the local officers tonight that Cobb, who has refused to report to the Detroit training camp pending settlement of his demands for increased salary, is at the Haddock plantation, working out with the Boston players, who have reached there.

Cardinals in Columbus.

Columbus, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—Manager Miller Huggins, of the St. Louis Cardinals, and eight pitchers and catchers, have arrived and will spend a few days here training. The first tryout of the local ball park was made today, and the visitors are highly pleased with it.

MRS. BATTLING NELSON WILL SUE FOR DIVORCE SHORTLY; NOT ESTRANGED, SAYS DANE

Portland, Ore., February 28.—An intention to sue Battling Nelson, the pugilist, for divorce, was expressed by Mrs. Fay King Nelson a few days ago when she was in Portland, according to her father, James King.

According to King, his daughter, who before her recent marriage to Nelson was a cartoonist on a Denver newspaper, asserted that Nelson lured her to Chicago by misrepresentation and that she consented to a wedding ceremony only through fear that the fighter would kill himself if she persisted in her refusal.

"Fay told us when she came home that when she left Denver with Nelson it was understood they were to come to Portland to see us about the marriage," said King.

"One hour after getting on the train she discovered that they were not on their way to Portland, but to Chicago. Then when they arrived at Chicago she still refused to marry Nelson, declaring that she did not love him, but he cried, threatened to kill himself and her, and, fearful of the worst, she consented to the ceremony."

Nelson Denies It

Savannah, Ga., February 28.—Accompanied by his manager, John R. Robinson, Battling Nelson arrived in Savannah this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock on the steamship City of Atlanta, from New York. He denied knowledge of any intention on the part of his wife, Mrs. Fay King Nelson, to sue for a divorce, when he saw a telegram to that effect.

"This is staggering," he said, "and as far as I know there is not a word of truth in it. Mrs. Nelson is now in Denver, and I have been writing to her and receiving letters from her regularly. The name of her father in the dispatch I have just seen is not that of her father. His name is Jack King, and he and I are the best of friends. I am now planning to either meet Mrs. Nelson in Chicago on March 11 or go to Denver to celebrate her birthday. We are on the best of terms."

BAT DELAYED; HERE TODAY; OUT-OF-TOWN FANS BUY BLOCK OF RESERVED SEATS

Battling Nelson, the Durable Dane, will not arrive in Atlanta until this morning, wireless advices received yesterday advising that the City of Atlanta was delayed by a storm, and did not reach Savannah until Friday afternoon.

Nelson, his manager, John Robinson, and his sparring partner, Jimmy Greenwood, will reach the Gate City via the Central of Georgia shortly before noon today.

Nelson has been training faithfully aboard ship, and announces himself as fit for the battle of his life. His opponent, Whitney, has been going through rigorous training stunts ever since the match was clinched, and is in better shape than ever before.

That the Nelson-Whitney fight is creating a stir not only among Atlanta boxing fans, but among the fans throughout the state, is evidenced by the demand for tickets from other Georgia cities.

Chief H. O. Hart, of Fairburn, Ga., came to Atlanta Friday and reserved fifty seats for his fellow townsmen. Orders for tickets have been received from Marietta, Roswell, Decatur, Rome, Cartersville, Dalton, Chattanooga, Jonesboro, Barnesville, Griffin, McDonough, Jackson, Forsyth, Austell, Macon and Smyrna.

It is expected that upward to 1,000 out-of-town fans will augment the large crowd of local fans who are going to the mill, and from the advance sale of seats it is doubtful if the big Auditorium is going to be large enough to accommodate the crowd.

The sparring partners of the two main bout principals have been signed up for the eight-round semi-windup. These two boys are fast lightweights, and are sure to put on a hammer-and-tongs affair. Jimmy Greenwood is Nelson's sparring partner, and "Professor" Todd acts in the same capacity for Whitney.

The complete card for the bouts will probably be announced tomorrow. Also the scale of admission prices. All the minor details cannot be worked out until the two fighters and the match-makers confer.

A Cracker a Day for Fans

26---James W. Brady

EDITOR'S NOTE.—This is the twenty-sixth of a series of daily articles introducing the prospective 1913 Crackers to Atlanta' fandom.

James W. Brady, the veteran right-hander, who, had he received good support in many of the games he twirled last season, would have been among the leading hurlers of the league, will be back on the job again this season.

Brady was born in Elmer, N. J., May 28, 1885. He is a married man, is 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighs 198 pounds.

Brady has been in professional baseball seven years. He started with Little Rock in 1906. In 1907 he was with Pittsburg and Johnstown in the Tri-State league. In 1908 he was with Johnstown and the Boston Americans. In 1909 he was with Kansas City and Newark. In 1910 he was with Newark and Wilkesbarre.

At the end of his engagement with Wilkesbarre he was declared a free agent and signed with Albany in the New York State league, with whom he played during the season of 1911. He was the winning pitcher of that league, winning seventeen games and losing eight, after joining them in the middle of the season.

He sold his release to the Boston Nationals, after again being declared a free agent, and was purchased from the latter by the locals.

Brady has not yet signed his contract, but he is sure to do so upon his arrival here next week to start the spring training. Brady is a very useful twirler to have around, and, given good support, he is liable to make it interesting for the best of the opposition at any stage.

HARDAGE AND ROBBINS GIVEN CLEAN BILL

Nashville, Tenn., February 28.—(Special.)—Hardage and Robbins, the two Vanderbilt football, baseball and track stars, have been cleared of professional charges by the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association, and will be seen in the two latter branches of sports on the Commodores' teams this spring.

Lawmaker Sends Challenge To McFarland for a Bout For Benefit of Legislators

Chicago, February 28.—That ocular demonstration will aid in passing the boxing bill now before the state legislature is the belief of Representative George C. Hilton, who drafted the bill.

Representative Hilton has challenged Packey MacFarland to meet him in a four-round exhibition before members of both houses soon, in the arsenal at Springfield.

Hilton is a skilled amateur boxer.

Georgia in Auburn.

The University of Georgia basketball team will bring its 1913 basketball season to a close tonight with a game in Auburn with Mike Donahue's goal-tossers. This is the second meeting between the two teams, Georgia winning the game played in Athens recently by the score of 92 to 12.

McMillan a Holdout.

Tommy McMillan, the little shortstop of the Rochester club, is a genuine holdout. The fast little shortstop wants a document calling for $400 a month from the Rochester management. A difference of $25 keeps he and the club apart.

MILITIA FIVE PLAYS REGULARS TONIGHT

The local basketball season will be brought to a close tonight at Fort McPherson with a game between the regimental five and the strong team of the Fifth regiment, of the Atlanta league.

This game is sure to be fiercely fought. The regulars won the last game played between the two teams.

The game will start promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

Duffy Lewis Signs.

San Francisco, February 28.—Duffy Lewis, outfielder of the Boston Americans, who, it was said, has returned three contracts this season, declared today he would join the team at the training camp in Hot Springs, Ark., March 9.

Sikora Wants Bout.

Paul Sikora, of Detroit, Mich., who has draws to his credit with such top-notchers as Grover Hayes, Rudy Unholz and Tommy Kilbane and wins over some other good boys, wants to get a bout in this city.

Chapman Signs.

Cleveland, February 28.—Shortstop Ray Chapman, one of the last of the local American league club to sign, today wired his acceptance of the terms of his 1913 contract. He will leave tomorrow for the training camp at Pensacola.

Vols Get Williams.

New York, February 28—The Brooklyn baseball club today released Pitcher Claude Williams to the Nashville club, of the Southern league, and signed Pitcher B. Hall, of the Ridgewood, W. Va., club.

Sunday's Sporting Features

The Constitution's Sunday sporting section will again be full of interesting features.

TY COBB will write his second article dealing with his experiences as a baseball player. This article will deal with his troubles to break in as a minor leaguer at Augusta. Many helpful hints can be picked up by the rising players.

HUGH FULLERTON, the world's greatest baseball expert, will write his fifth article on the contestants in the major league races. This week he deals with the prospects of the BROOKLYN TROLLEY DODGERS and the ST. LOUIS BROWNS.

JIM CORBETT, former heavyweight champion of the world, and authority on boxing, contributes his usual bright boxing letter.

ALL-STAR BASKETBALL teams will be picked. OGLE GRICE will pick the CITY LEAGUE teams and DICK JEMISON will choose an ALL-SOUTHERN AGGREGATION.

ILLUSTRATIONS will be timely and up to date.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS reports of all the latest doings in the world of sport will be carried in full. All the news from the training camps.

A CRACKER A DAY, The Constitution's daily feature, will also appear. TOMMY LONG is the subject of Sunday's sketch, the last of the series.

All the latest news of the CRACKERS, the arrivals if any and the plans for the coming week, the first of the practice season, will be fully detailed.

BAILEY AND REYNOLDS WILL REPORT LATER

Given Permission to Stay a While—Players Announce Receipt of Tickets.

Two Crackers, Outfielder Harry Bailey and Catcher Ham Reynolds, will not report with the rest of the players the coming week. Manager Smith received letters from the two asking leaves of absence for a longer period, which was granted.

Bailey will not report until March 11. He has a position at his winter home in Shawnee, which he took until March 10. He believes the firm due his services until that time.

Reynolds is assisting Arthur Maddox with the baseball candidates of the Georgia Military college at Milledgeville, and asks permission to report March 10.

A postal card was received from Joe Agler Saturday saying he would be on hand Wednesday. Others have written in announcing the receipt of their transportation, but not saying when they would arrive.

Atlanta Loses Byrd.

Atlanta is to lose one of her best golfers in the near future. What is Atlanta's loss will be Birmingham's gain. F. G. Byrd, several times champion of the Atlanta Athleitc club and southern champion once, is soon to move to Birmingham.

Mr. Byrd has become associated with the Birmingham Arms and Cycle company, a concern of which Robert Baugh, president of the Birmingham baseball club and one of Birmingham's foremost golfers, is owner.

Racing in New York State An Almost Assured Fact Is Latest Announcement

New York, February 28.—It is published here as "an almost assured fact" that horse racing will be revived on New York tracks next June for the first time since the anti-betting legislation of Governor Charles E. Hughes' administration brought turf activities to a standstill.

No announcement has come officially from the Jockey club, which is the governing body of the racing associations, or from the associations themselves, but reports in sporting circles are said to bear the stamp of such authority.

These reports are that a co-operative plan will be tried, whereby the various associations will combine to share losses and profits alike until the sport has been firmly re-established. A subscription fund among the associations is proposed as the initial move, and it is said that this proposal has already met with such favor that the opening of a few race courses is assured directly after the closing of the spring meetings in Maryland in May.

Four tracks are named for the circuit—Belmont Park, Aqueduct and Yonkers in the Metropolitan district, and the Saratoga track up state.

The Jockey club recently had a meeting to consider the situation as affected by a supreme court decision or an oral betting case, whereby the court held that the directors of the racing associations were not liable for oral betting within their enclosures. Another meeting of the Jockey club is scheduled for the near future, when something official may be learned of the present reports.

CONGRESS TAKES UP SUFFRAGE QUESTION

Hobson, Tribble and Porter Are Named on Committee to Make Special Investigation.

Washington, February 28.—Congress has taken up the woman suffrage question in earnest by the designation of a subcommittee headed by Representative Hobson to inquire and report to the house whether it would be best to leave the question of equal suffrage in the election of president and vice president to constitutional amendment, or to the action of separate states. Various committees of congress have for many years considered proposed amendments, but none has ever reported one out.

Representatives Porter, of Pennsylvania, and Tribble, of Georgia, will work with Representative Hobson in the inquiry, which promises to be wide in its scope and probably will take the form of hearings.

It is promised that the inquiry will be finished and a report presented to the incoming congress before it ends two years hence.

Suffrage leaders are mostly in favor of a constitutional amendment to give women the ballot. There is some opposition to that plan, however, headed by those who believe it might better be left for the states to decide and thereby escape a problem which might arise with the granting of equal suffrage in the southern states.

Those in favor of the latter plan point in support of their argument to some little incidents which have happened to "General" Rosalie Jones and her "army" when it crossed the Mason and Dixon line into Maryland, and in some lacalities was joined by negro women marchers bearing banners, "Votes for negro women."

All suffrage leaders here, however, are elated at an official recognition of the question by congress, and the fact that Representative Hobson has been placed in charge of the inquiry. He openly favors equal suffrage and has promised to march in the suffrage pageant.

JURY VALUES HIS LEG AT $1,562 AN INCH

Paterson, N. J., February 28.—For each of two inches that his right leg was shortened by an automobile accident, a jury in the Passaic circuit court awarded Isadore Friedman, of Paterson, $1,562 damages in his suit against Samuel Friedlander, a dry goods merchant of that city.

Friedman sold Friedlander a touring car last October. The same afternoon Friedlander asked Friedman to accompany him to Crystal Lake. On the return the engine worked poorly, and Friedlander had Friedman step out on the running board and listen to the workings of the machine while it was in motion.

Avoiding a wagon, Friedlander drove off the road into a tree. Friedman's hip was broken. X-ray photographs were produced in court showing Friedman's right leg is 2 inches shorter than the left.

KILPATRICK'S DEATH CAUSES DEEP REGRET

He Was Considered One of the Best Versed Men in Constitutional Law.

In the death of J. D. Kilpatrick, one of Atlanta's leading attorneys and former president of the bar association, scores of his colleagues expressed themselves of the view that the state has lost one of the best versed men in constitutional law and one of the most representative of what a lawyer should be in his practice and among his fellow men.

Mr. Kilpatrick died at an early hour Friday morning at a sanitarium where he was taken several weeks ago for an operation. Earlier in the night his condition was reported as showing a slight improvement and his death was unexpected, although he had not been out of danger since the operation.

Leaves Wife and Two Sons.

At his home at 720 Ponce de Leon avenue Mr. Kilpatrick leaves a wife and two sons, Louis, aged 18, and Donald, aged 15. He has a brother, George Kilpatrick, of Godfrey, Ga., and three sisters, Mrs. J. O. Cooper, of Covington, Ga.; Mrs. W. F. Matthews, of Milledgeville, Ga., and Mrs. George W. Stinson, of Monticello, Ga.

The body was removed to Patterson's undertaking establishment and funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock Sunday morning at the residence. The burial will be at West View cemetery. The pallbearers have not yet been selected, but an honorary escort from the Atlanta Bar association will escort the body to the cemetery. All members of the association have been requested to attend and are asked to meet at 9 o'clock Sunday at the courthouse, corner South Pryor and East Hunter streets, where cars will be provided for them. Courts were closed Friday in the attorney's honor and a meeting of the lawyers at the courthouse was held at which most of them signified their intention of attending the services.

Mr. Kilpatrick was born in Putnam county, Georgia, in 1867. He graduated with second honors at Mercer in 1888 and taught school for two years before being admitted to the bar in Monticello.

After a two-year residence there he married Miss Alma Hightower. He became state senator in 1895 and served through the sessions of 1895-6.

Enters Practice in Atlanta.

In 1897 he came to Atlanta and formed a partnership with John E. McClelland under the name of Kilpatrick & McClelland. That firm was dissolved about three years later. Recently he has been associated with A. C. Corbett and H. C. Holbrook.

As a lecturer on criminal law, cases and torts, Mr. Kilpatrick has for the past three years been one of the most valued members of the faculty of the Atlanta Law school.

He held the degrees of master of arts and of bachelor of law and was a member of Piedmont lodge of Masons.

The faculty and students of the law school have been invited to attend the funeral in a body.

Reuben R. Arnold, president of the Atlanta Bar association, appointed the following committee to invite to the funeral the members of the supreme court and of the court of appeals: J. S. McClelland, Benjamin Tye and Carl Hutcheson. The committee to invite judges of the superior and city courts is Lawton Nalley, Arminius Wright and Jack Hastings.

FAVORS MILITARY COPS.

Wood Says Foreign Element Doesn't Respect Civil Officer.

New York, February 28.—The foreman of the extraordinary grand jury which has indicted several policemen and is still continuing its inquiry into graft laid before the legislative committee on remedial police legislation today a carefully prepared scheme for police reform. This witness, Thomas C. Wood, declared that the large foreign element here laid upon the police a "terrible burden." From the district attorney's records he showed that of 23,000 persons convicted between 1904 and 1911, 8,500 were foreigners.

The chief trouble, he said, was that the immigrant did not respect a civil officer. For this reason he favored a police force on military lines, headed by a commissioner with a salary of at least $25,000 a year and retirable only on account of age. He also indorsed the recommendation for a training school on military lines for police officers.

CHILDREN GIVE PENNIES TO HELP SCHOOLMATE

Ottawa, Kan., February 28.—Every school pupil in Ottawa has agreed to give a penny toward paying the expenses of a skin grafting operation for Ray Winters, a 12-year-old boy of Ottawa, who was taken to the Wesley hospital in Kansas City. He was burned while using gasoline instead of kerosene in building a fire at his home. Each of the lad's three brothers have volunteered to give seventeen square inches of skin, the amount necessary to cover the burns. Besides the school children's offers of pennies, the Associated Charities here have organized a campaign to collect money.

U. S. SENATE DECIDES ON TWO BATTLESHIPS

Bill Carries Appropriation of About $150,000,000—Defeat of Measure in House Predicted.

Washington, February 28.—Two battleships were voted into the naval appropriation bill by the senate tonight after a short discussion of the provision adopted by the house limiting the building program to one battleship.

The two battleship amendment, offered by the naval committee of the senate, was adopted 56 to 16. An amendment by Senator Brandegee providing for three ships was defeated 21 to 48.

The senate also added to the six torpedo boat destroyers and four submarines authorized by the house one transport, to cost not more than $1,850,000, and one supply ship, to cost not more than $1,425,000, the figures in both cases being exclusive of armor and armament. The two battleships would cost not more than $7,425,000 each, exclusive of armor and armament. At the end of an extended debate it was provided that one of the battleships should be built in the government navy yard.

The defeat of the two battleship program in the house is looked for by many members of that body. The house voted one battleship after a long struggle and the one battleship advocates declare they will hold up the entire appropriation bill rather than accept the senate amendments adding the second ship. The bill as agreed to tonight carries a total appropriation of approximately $150,000,000.

Senators who voted against the two battleships amendment were Bacon, Bristow, Burton, Gore, Johnston, Kern, La Follette; Lea, McCumber, Myers, Pittman, Pomerene, Shively, Smith of Georgia, Smith of South Carolina and Thomas.

LITTLE ITEMS OF GEORGIA CITIES

Engineer for Ware County.

Waycross, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—Although members of the county commission board have conferred with seevral of the applicants for county engineer of Ware, no decision has been arrived at yet regarding the man for the place. Of the 200 applications the committee in charge of the matter cut down the number to less than 12, and out of this number expects to get a man suitable for Ware county.

102 Cases Tried in 10 Days.

Athens, Ga., February 28.—(Special.) What is believed to be a record has been made by the city court of Athens, which adjourned tonight. In a term of ten days 102 cases have been disposed of.

House Blown Down.

Nashville, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—The home of Frank Cook, a well-known citizen, was blown down Thursday during a storm here. All escaped unhurt. Trees and telephone wires are damaged.

BOSTONIANS
Famous Shoes for Men.

Two score years ago, the old-time manufacturers of footwear executed a peculiarly fine finish to their product which has largely been lost sight of in modern shoemaking.

BOSTONIANS, "Famous Shoes for Men," however, are still manufactured under the "hand-made" standard of excellence of forty years ago.

This accounts for their superiority of finish, which, coupled with all that is worthy in present-day style and materials, renders them distinctively foremost and best. We have your choice in style and can fit you right.

MARSHALL ARRIVES FOR INAUGURATION

Vice President-Elect Given a Quiet Reception in Accordance With His Desire for Jeffersonian Simplicity.

Washington, February 28.—Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, reached Washington today ready to become vice president of the United States at noon next Tuesday. Coming directly from Trenton after conferences with President-elect Wilson, the vice president-to-be found a welcome at the city gates to his liking, there being no ostentation marking this first ceremony of the inaugural program to jar his oft-expressed ideas of Jeffersonian simplicity.

Accompanied by Mrs. Marshall, the future vice president was met at the railroad station by a committee of senators, representatives and citizens. In the presidential suite at the station a brief informal reception took place. Henry B. F. MacFarland, chairman of the reception committee, welcomed the guests on behalf of the city, and, in turn, Senator Kern and Representative Lincoln Dixon, of Indiana, received them on behalf of congress. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall were then escorted by Senator Kern and Mr. MacFarland to the hotel where they are to make their home.

Spends Evening at Hotel.

Plans for a dinner tonight with Mr. Marshall and members of the Indiana society as guests were abandoned, and the vice president-elect spent the evening quietly at his hotel.

The first inauguration ceremony over members of the inaugural committee turned their attention to completing arrangements for reception to the president-elect. A request from Mr. Wilson necessitated quick action and served as an indication that he is to announce his cabinet very shortly, and that he plans also to name a secretary of the department of labor, created by the bill now awaiting President Taft's signature.

The president-elect requested that ten seats be reserved on the floor of the senate for members of his cabinet during the vice presidential inauguration, and that ten seats for their wives be reserved in the senate gallery. The request was complied with at once.

Wilson Arrives Monday.

The president-elect and Mrs. Wilson will arrive in Washington Monday afternoon. Thomas Nelson Page, chairman of the reception committee, will meet them at the train and escort them to the presidential room in the station, where the reception committee will await them. All plans for the inaugural ceremonies have been completed; the city is a-flutter with gay decorations and every incoming train is crowded with visitors. It is estimated that 10,000 arrived today and tonight.

Tomorrow and Sunday 50,000 are expected to reach the city, and preparations have been made to accommodate 200,000 visitors by Tuesday.

Mr. Marshall said tonight that while he was aware of the personnel of President-elect Wilson's cabinet, he preferred not to give an intimation regarding selections. He added he was not aware that the president-elect contemplated having him meet with his cabinet, but if Mr. Wilson desired it he, of course, would do so.

"I shall do whatever Mr. Wilson wishes, as he is my superior," declared Mr. Marshall. "We are in perfect accord and have reached a thorough understanding on subjects political."

FUND FOR THE FAMILY OF FIREMAN GROWING

City May Continue His Pay for Year for the Benefit of Wife and Children.

Previously acknowledged	$152.00
Hirsch Brothers	25.00
Gus Ryan	25.00
Charles C. Thorn	20.00
Clarence Haverty	10.00

Emmett A. Davidson	5.00
Lucien Harris	5.00
Dave L. Franklin	2.50
R. D. Fairman	1.00
C. F. Mundy	1.00
Total to date	$286.50

In addition to the generous subscriptions for the widow and children of Fireman James I. Gillespie, which have come to a total so far of $286.50, a movement was started yesterday to have the city of Atlanta continue the dead fireman's salary for the remaining ten months of the year.

Mayor James G. Woodward started the movement by announcing that he would send a message to council next Monday afternoon urging council to authorize the fire masters to keep the name of J. I. Gillespie on the pay roll of the department until December 31, 1913.

Gillespie was receiving $90 a month when his life was crushed out in a heroic attempt to save the lives of the occupants of the building at 140-142 Whitehall street, and if council adopts a resolution along the lines suggested in the message of Mayor Woodward, the fireman's widow and children will be better off by $900.

"There is no provision in the pension laws of the city applicable to the Gillespie case," Mayor Woodward said Friday, "but the city owes it to the man to take care of his family for the balance of the year, at least. I wish there was some way in which the city could help the family for at least five years."

Councilman Claude L. Ashley was among those who came to The Constitution office Friday to bring personally their subscriptions. "The Constitution fund will be a great boon to the family," said Councilman Ashley. "I hope that every man and woman in Atlanta will contribute a mite."

Late last night the following additional subscriptions were made to the fund for the widow of Mr. Gillespie:

Flennie Miner	$2.00
D. M. Goodlin, Jr.	1.00
Newton Garner	1.00

FINDS TRUST CONTROLS THE RATES ON SUGAR

Washington, February 28.—Control by a "few powerful concerns" of routing of the sugar industry of the country "gives them a leverage for controlling the rates and there are indications that they have not failed to use the right of their advantage," says the interstate commerce commission in a decision today holding that the rates on sugar from Cincinnati to Knoxville and Chattanooga were too high as compared with rates from competing markets, such as New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and New Orleans. Without the issuance of an order, it is implied, said the commission, that the roads affected would reduce their rates in proportion to those charged from other points.

Atlanta Needs Art Museum, Declares Augustus Koopman

One of the beautiful portraits of Augustus Koopman.

"There is a renaissance of art all over the United States and I think this is the psychological moment for an art museum for Atlanta," said Augustus Koopman, the great modern colorist whose paintings adorn the salons of European royalty and the leading art galleries of the world. Mr. Koopman arrived in Atlanta Thursday from Paris, where his pictures have created a sensation.

"I find as many automobiles here as in Paris, London, New York or Boston, in proportion, of course, and if Atlanta can have such fine cars and well-kept buildings, and so beautiful a city, there ought to be an Atlanta art museum," said Mr. Koopman Friday evening in an address to the Atlanta Art association in Carnegie library, where some of his pictures have been on exhibition for the past fortnight.

"Every western city has its art galleries, and Atlanta is behind in this one regard," he continued.

Most Artistic People.

"The French (and the Japanese) are the most artistic people in the world," he said. "They live well because they have a keen business sense which enables them to prosper.

"The Paris municipality has always seen the commercial advantage of the city beautiful, and encouraged the fine arts by donating buildings for the big annual exhibitions; by buying pictures; by adorning parks and squares with statues, and all this pays. It brings people from the whole world to Paris. New York is following suit, and all the cities east and west have recognized that the development of the fine arts and beautification of cities makes for future prosperity and commercial development."

The Art association needs encouragement to get pictures here in the future, and the people who send them also need encouragement, according to Mr. Koopman.

"It was a great shock to me to see my pictures in the cellar of the Carnegie library,' he said. "However, if my pictures, and my coming here, and what I say, will have an effect in establishing an art museum, however modest, I shall be repaid in every respect."

His Best Pictures.

Among the works of art which Augustus Koopman brings with him are six new etchings which the French government has just purchased for the Luxemberg gallery in Paris. "The Shrimpers" has proved a strong favorite of the Koopman collection on exhibition here. This painting, like many of his works of art, has won numerous honors, medals and money prizes, "but I don't believe in that sort of recognition," said Mr. Koopman. "The work should stand by itself."

Though Mr. Koopman is a southern man by birth this is his first return to the south since he has won fame and fortune abroad, and he notes a vast difference.

"Especially preserve your trees," he said. "In Paris a tree is worth so much gold, and they even build their houses around trees there. Keep the trees, both for their health value and for artistic beauty."

Mr. Koopman's appeal was a powerful one, and there were assurances from the chamber of commerce that the art museum would be pushed by a special art committee, of which C. B. Bidwell is chairman.

CONCERT TO BE GIVEN SUNDAY BY PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA

The beauty and success of the last concert by the Philharmonic orchestra of the Atlanta Musical association makes all the more enteresting the announcement that the next concert is dated for Sunday afternoon, the 9th, at the Atlanta theater.

The number of new members of the association, which is increasing by scores, is most flattering to the work of the orchestra, which is enjoying just now that best kind of advertisement which lies in being talked about.

Membership in the assoication entitles the holder to free tickets to all the concerts, but arrangements will be made for adequate box office service for those concert-goers who are not members.

The program will be announced later.

MORTUARY

E. L. Foster.

E. L. Foster dropped dead Friday morning at 5 o'clock of heart trouble while working at the Fort street power house of the Georgia Railway and Electric company, where he was employed. He is survived by a father and brother, who are in Florida. The body was removed to Greenberg & Bond's, who wired the relatives in Florida. The father and brother of Mr. Foster are expected in Atlanta today, and funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Mrs. Emma G. Lee died at 332 Houston street at 11:30 o'clock Friday morning. She is survived by three children, Mrs. George C. Mizell, Mrs. Maude L. Thompson and Mrs. Claude E. Stamps. The funeral was held Friday evening at 8 o'clock from the residence and the body will be sent to Covington, Ga., at 7:30 o'clock for interment.

Miss Belle Weems, Washington.

Washington, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—The body of Miss Belle Weems, whose death occurred Thursday in Atlanta, arrived here at noon today. The interment was from the train, Rev. J. P. Erwin, pastor of the First Methodist church, conducting the services. Miss Weems was a native of Washington, where she resided until going to Atlanta about twenty years ago. She was in her eighty-fourth year and is survived by a sister, Mrs. J. W. Ficklen, of this city, and her brother, Samuel Barnett Weems, of Mississippi.

Mrs. Jennie Walton, Washington

Washington, Ga., February 28.—(Special.)—Mrs. Jennie Walton died Thursday at her home near Tignall, in this county, after a protracted illness. The funeral and interment took place today at Friendship Baptist church, conducted by Rev. H. M. Adams. Mrs. Walton was 52 years old and is survived by two sons, George and Harry Walton; two brothers, Samuel H. McLendon, Wilkes county, and William C. McLendon, Atlanta, and the following sisters: Mrs. J. B. Tyler, Waynesboro; Mrs. George W. Mullen, Miami, Fla., and Mrs. W. D. Walton, Ensley, Ala.

Mrs. W. P. Harris.

Mrs. W. P. Harris, age 67, died at 7 o'clock Friday morning at her residence, 93 Crumley street. The body was removed to Patterson's chapel. She is survived by a husband and one daughter, Mrs. W. T. Wheeler. The funeral will be at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the First Christian church, Rev. L. O. Bricker officiating.

Kaiser Loses Suit.

Elbing, Germany, February 28.—Emperor William today lost a lawsuit brought against him by a tenant farmer named Sohst, whom he boasted during a recent speech that he had been "thrown out because he was no good." The district court declared that the emperor was not entitled to terminate the lease of his tenant, which ran until 1918.

VICTIMS LIE BURIED IN ASHES OF HOTEL

Only Four Bodies Recovered of Score Who Lost Lives in Omaha Fire.

Omaha, Neb., February 28.—Fire early this morning destroyed the Dewey hotel at Thirteenth and Farnam streets, at least a score and possibly more persons losing their lives. The register of the little hostelry was burned, and the names of many of those who died in the flames probably never will be known. Tonight only four bodies had been recovered. These were of persons who either jumped from windows or who died from injuries.

They were:

Charles Cummings, a bartendeer.

Unidentified man, body recovered by firemen before interior of building collapsed.

Mrs. Alice Bonnevue, sister of Mrs. C. E. Wilkins wife of the proprietor of the hotel.

Charles Beverly.

Cummings' brother arrived this morning from Pittsburg to visit him, only to learn of his death. Cummings jumped from the third floor to the sidewalk, his head and body being badly crushed.

The fire occurred at an hour when few persons were in the vicinity, and the interior of the old building was a mass of flames before the firemen arrived. Not less than fifty persons were sleeping in the building, and estimates of the number run as high as seventy-five. At least thirty are known to have escaped. Many of them were scantily clad. About a third of the guests were Nebraskans who had come to the city to attend the automobile show. Most of them had rooms near the two exists, and so far as known, all escaped to the street.

The firemen did not get the flames under control until after the interior had collapsed and fallen into the basement. Here, beneath hundreds of tons of debris, tonight lie the bodies of the victims, and it may require two days to remove them. Until this debris has been removed, the number of dead will not be known.

EIGHT MEN RESCUED FROM SHIP IN GALE

Norfolk, Va., February 28.—Eight men, composing the crew of the three-masted schooner Zaccheus Sherman, were rescued from that vessel late this afternoon by lifesavers of the Gull shoals, New inlet, Kinneat and Chicamicomico stations. The schooner stranded during a 70-mile southwest gale last night, and was sighted by the lifesavers early this morning.

Lifesavers made repeated efforts to launch a boat, but high seas drove them back and threatened to destroy the small craft. Twice the lifesavers got a line to the schooner, but the crew on the ill-fated craft did not know how to handle the rope, and they became so tangled that the lifesavers could not shoot the breeches' buoy to them. Late this afternoon a howser was shot to the vessel, and the men were landed on shore.

Shirtwaist Makers Strike.

Boston, February 28.—Shirtwaist and dressmaking operatives here struck today for an increase in wages and shorter working hours. Union officials claim that 125 shops are affected, and that 9,000 workers are out. Some strikers, members of the men's garment workers' union, it is asserted, are on the verge of starvation.

Has Nine Grandparents.

Gordon, Ala., February 28.—J. W. Sanders has a son 1 year old who has five great-grandparents and four grandparents living.

HEALTH CERTIFICATES FOR MARRIAGES ASKED

Grand Jury Wants the Georgia Legislature to Pass This Law.

That the Georgia legislature should pass a law requiring that no marriage licenses be issued except upon a physician's certificate of the health of both parties, a recommendation for a reformatory for girls, the prohibition of the possession of pistols less than 16 inches long and the suggestion that convicted "pistol-toters" should serve 12 months without the alternative of a fine, were among the striking features of the grand jury's report yesterday to Judge George L. Bell, of the superior court.

Changes Are Suggested.

A number of other changes in state and county laws and customs were advocated by the jurymen. They advised that no pawnshop or junk dealer be allowed to have his place of business more than a quarter of a mile from the center of town and that a rigid police scrutiny be kept over them, and their licenses raised. That three deputies be selected by the sheriff with the approval of the superior court, and that only these men be vested with power to approve bonds and that the form of bonds be more stringent was another recommendation made.

"Much of the crime which disgraces our civilization," said the report, "is directly traceable to the illegal sale of liquor, and we recommend a more careful scrutiny of the so-called locker clubs. Many of them are nothing more nor less than barrooms, operated for profit."

The grand jurymen also went on record as approving of Police Chief James L. Beavers' course in regard to the vice question, and urged the necessity of civic and county aid for unfortunate women.

Abolish Justice Courts.

In closing, the report made an urgent request for the abolishment of the present system of justice of the peace courts and urged the passage of a bill changing the system to one of municipal courts, as the legislature last summer gave Atlanta the right to have done.

The change from a fee to a salary system also met with words of approval from the jurymen, who expressed their regret that three county officials are opposing the recent law in the supreme courts. The report was read to the court by W. F. Crusselle, secretary of the jury, and was signed by Thomas J. Day, foreman, and nineteen members of the jury were present in court.

J. HAM LEWIS MAY TAKE CLAIM TO U. S. SENATE

Springfield, Ill., February 28.—A movement was started by friends of J. Hamilton Lewis today to establish his claim to the long term of United States senatorship, based on yesterday's proceedings in the legislature. Republicans insisted that Colonel Lewis had not a shadow of a claim on the senatorship. It was admitted by both sides, however, that even if the authorities here should decide that Colonel Lewis had no claim to the place, he could take the matter directly to the United States senate which might decide for itself whether Lewis was entitled to sit in that body.

Accepted Bust of Cannon.

Washington, February 28.—A marble bust of former Speaker Cannon, presented by a group of friends in the house with the expressed hope that it be placed in the house office building, was accepted today in a resolution introduced by Republican Leader Mann.

FLAT PROPOSAL FOR ARBITRATION

Such Is the Gist of England's Rejoinder to the American Note on the Canal Toll Question.

Washington, February 28.—The rejoinder of the British government to the last American note regarding the Panama canal zone tolls question was delivered today to Secretary Knox by Ambassador Bryce. Though naturally of great interest to Secretary Knox, he will make no effort to consider it, but will allow the negotiations on the American side to be continued by his successor in office.

It is understood that the British note, after a repetition of former arguments in support of its original contention, contains a flat proposal for arbitration of the issue between the two countries, according to the provisions of the existing special arbitration treaty between the two countries, which will expire in June.

The note was read to Secretary Knox by Ambassador Bryce at the secretary's office and a copy was left with the secretary by direction of Sir Edward Grey. It is withheld from publication for the present to afford Secretary Knox an opportunity to lay it before President Taft, but it has been arranged that the note shall be given out for publication in the Sunday morning papers in this country and the Monday morning papers in Europe.

CITY NEWS

To Speak on "Personal Influence."—A good program is arranged for the service at the Railroad Young Men's Christian association, 31 1-2 West Alabama street, Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock J. C. Symmes, special agent for the Southern Bell Telephone company, will be the speaker, having for his topic, "Personal Influence." He is an able leader and it will pay to hear him. W. R. Love, tenor of the Second Baptist church choir, will sing. This will be a specially enjoyable feature. Mr. Love is a machinist at the Southern railway shops.

Bishop Kelly at St. Anthony.—Right Rev. B. J. Kelly, bishop of Savannah, will deliver the Lenten sermon on "Holy Communion" at St. Anthony's church, West End, on Sunday night at 8 o'clock. All the members of the congregation are specially invited to be present.

"Hell and Its Origin."—Rev. E. Dean Ellenwood will lecture at the Universalist church in East Harris street Sunday night at 7:45 o'clock on "Where Christianity Got Its Hell." Mr. Ellenwood has spoken upon this theme more than once during his pastorate of seven years in Atlanta, but he has recently received numerous requests for a repetition of the lecture before his departure for his new field of work early in April. Mr. Ellenwood believes that there are many earnest, sincere Christian believers who revolt from the cruel doctrine of endless torture, who would be glad to discard it if they could become convinced that the doctrine is not of Christian origin.

New Style U. S. Tea Party.

Washington, February 28.—Collector Loeb on March 3 will dump 20,000 packages of tea into New York harbor. The tea belongs to the Carter-Macey company, but was excluded last April as not up to the standard.

The law provides that tea rejected must be removed within six months from the government warehouse or be destroyed. The time is up.

SUFFRAGE HIKERS INVADE CAPITAL

"General" Jones and "Army" Given a Great Reception at the End of the Long March.

Washington, February 28.—"General" Rosalie Jones and her suffrage "army" marched triumphantly into the capital shortly before noon today, through the capitol grounds and down Pennsylvania avenue, with an escort of local enthusiasts and citizens which fairly choked the streets and delayed traffic. It was one of the most remarkable street demonstrations ever seen here.

The presidential inauguration scarcely could have presented a more enthusiastic spectacle than Pennsylvania avenue from the capitol to the treasury building after the plucky, disheveled band of suffrage pilgrims swung wearily around the Peace monument for the final march of their 250-mile walk for their cause.

Demonstration Tempestuous.

Incoming presidents have not received more clamorous applause than did the company of brown-clad women, huddled in a little group, forced to fight their way through veritable walls of shouting humanity for more than a mile of their historic "hike." To prevent disruption of their column, "General" Rosalie Jones and her tired comrades locked arms and in two lines clung together, moving only when police could clear the way for a short advance. In every block they were halted repeatedly, the crowds greeting them with tempestuous demonstration. Men and women alike braved the horses' hoofs and chugging automobiles of the suffrage army and escort to grasp the pilgrims' hands.

Though no brass band heralded the survivors who seventeen days ago left New York for the advance on Washington, a bedlam of sound rent the air from the moment the "hikers" were in sight of the capital until they were jammed into a struggling mass of men, women, automobiles and carriages before suffrage headquarters.

Police Clear Path.

When the treasury was reached so dense was the mob that the police with great difficulty cleared a narrow pathway through which the marchers could pass to the crowning glory of their achievement, at suffrage headquarters. Here, as soon as she could get her breath, "General" Jones, lifted by stalwart attendants to an automobile, addressed the crowd. Shouting through a megaphone the message of equal suffrage, and giving thanks for the end of the long and hazardous tramp of her army, she begged indulgence of the throng, promising to "talk you to death" before she left Washington.

For twenty minutes the "hikers" waited in the street until the police could disperse the crowd, then they were rushed into the office of the suffrage workers, whence they were taken to hotels for a rest before luncheon.

The marchers were greatly relieved when informed of the receipt of a telegram from the national suffrage headquarters announcing regret that there had been a misunderstanding over who should deliver the suffrage message to Presidet-elect Wilson. "General" Jones was assured that her pilgrims would be permitted to take the message, provided an interview with the new president can be arranged.

REPAVE PEACHTREE OR RESURFACE IT

Committee Named by Chairman Hall to Confer With the Property Owners.

Property owners on Peachtree, between Sixth and Fifteenth, appeared before the street committee of council yesterday afternoon for the purpose of conferring as to whether the street shall be entirely repaved or just resurfaced.

As only a few were present, it was decided to postpone the conference until a more auspicious time. Chairman Orville H. Hall, of the street committee, appointed Councilmen Haverty and Wood as members of the committee to confer with the property owners.

Councilman Haverty, representative of the eighth ward on the committee, said that he was of the belief that Peachtree should be repaved. He explained that Captain Clayton informed him that to resurface the street would be nothing more than a makeshift, inasmuch as it would only last about five years at the very best. He said that as Peachtree is the main thoroughfare of the city, it should be treated to the best sort of material used. He will probably urge that the property owners agree to let the job go in as an assessment contract and not as a free job.

Peachtree was paved by the county five years ago, and has never been entirely satisfactory. The surface began to wear out within a year after being put down. The contractors who furnished the material have agreed, in view of the claim that the material was not good, to furnish the binder for the asphalt which will be only a small item of the cost.

NEGRO WOMAN HURT BY W. J. HARPER'S AUTO

As W. J. Harper, the Atlanta real estate man, was being driven last night in his auto toward his home, at 137 Lee street, his machine struck a negro woman named Ella Drake, seriously injuring her. The accident happened at the corner of Lee and Park streets, and the woman had just got off an incoming car and tried to run across the street ahead of the automobile.

Mr. Harper had the negro woman driven in his own auto to her home, 28½ Culver street, after she had been treated by Dr. T. D. Longino, before whose home the accident happened.

Will Davis, Mr. Harper's chauffeur, was placed under arrest by two call officers who investigated the accident. Mr. Harper drove with him to police headquarters and signed his bond in the amount of $50.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL OF THE MARKETS

REACTION IN COTTON DUE TO REALIZING

The Market Opened Firm, But Offerings Increased and Realizing Set In.

New York, February 28.—March notices furnished the chief feature in the cotton market during the day's trading. According to trade estimates, the notices represented about 40,000 bales, and while their circulation caused some early liquidation, it appeared that they were very promptly stopped by local spot houses. Covering then set in and caused quite a sharp advance in prices, but the market later reacted under realizing for over the week-end and closed barely steady, net 8 points higher to 4 points lower.

The market opened firm at an advance of 7 to 11 points and after a reaction of 5 or 6 points developed considerable strength, on covering by near month shorts, renewed foreign buying and local support, inspired by the failure of March notices, to cause any material depression; steady Liverpool cables and reports of a steady spot situation in the south.

For a time March seemed very hard to buy and sold up to 12.42, or 21 points above the closing figures of yesterday. The demand for later positions was less urgent, but shorts in May and July seemed to be rendered rather nervous by the strength in March and old crop positions generally sold 12 to 14 points net higher, while the new crop showed net gains of 8 to 9 points in sympathy.

Offerings increased as soon as the demand from March shorts showed signs of subsiding and the market broke very sharply during the last hour, closing at practically the lowest on all positions, except the near months.

Private cables from Liverpool attributed the steady showing there to the continued activity of Manchester and better prospects for an early settlement of affairs in the Balkans.

Cotton spot closed quiet; middling uplands 12.70; do. gulf 12.95; sales 200 bales.

Dry Goods.

New York, February. 28.—The cotton goods markets are steady, but generally quiet. Jobbers are active and retailers have been purchasing steadily in wash goods, white goods and knit goods departments. Yarns rule quiet. Local wool markets are quiet. Foreign wool markets firmer.

Sea Island Cotton.

Savannah, February 28.—Sea island cotton for the week has ruled quiet to dull. Stocks today were 24,935, as against 8,492 for the corresponding day of last year. Prices for the week were: Fancy Georgia and Florida, 25; extra choice Georgia and Florida, 24; choice Georgia and Florida, 23; extra fine, 21; fine, 20.

Charleston, S. C., February 28.—Sea island cotton: Receipts, 103; exports, 64 to domestic mills, stock, 2,772; sales, 192, consisting of crop lots at irregular prices.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, February 28.—About 40,000 tenders were made this morning upon March, only to disclose a large short interest in that position, causing an advance of some 20 points on March and 10 points on the summer deliveries. When the bullish statistics were published, showing a visible supply of some 70,000 bales less than last season, selling orders again appeared from Wall street houses, causing the market to decline below last evening.

The local sentiment continues to remain quite as bearish as ever, on the idea that next season's crop will be a large one. It seems rather early to decide that question. Possibly we may know something about it in August, but nevertheless that is the argument advanced to offset the reduction in the supply, due to a large consumption and an excellent demand for cotton goods.

Movement of Cotton.

New York, February 28.—The following statistics on the movement of cotton for the week ending today were compiled by the New York cotton exchange:

WEEKLY MOVEMENT.

Port receipts	129,269
Overland to mills and Canada	25,325
Southern mill takings (estimated)	55,000
Loss of stock at interior towns	16,865
Brought into sight for the week	192,729

TOTAL CROP MOVEMENT.

Port receipts	8,345,672
Overland to mills and Canada	769,130
Southern mill takings (estimated)	2,050,000
Stock at interior towns in excess of September 1	549,189
Brought into sight thus far for season	11,713,991

4,026 bales added to receipts for the season.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, February 28.—Cotton looked very strong at one time today, but in the end it was a very disappointing market to the bulls. There were free tenders of March, but the notices were quickly stopped and there was a rush to cover by small March shorts. This gave March a strength that was, to a degree, reflected by the other months. March sold 20 points higher than yesterday's close, but during the late trading there was a rush to sell and prices broke very rapidly. March closed at a net advance for the day of 8 points; May was unchanged, July was down 4 and October 3 points. The close was barely steady and it certainly did not look like a bull market at the close.

Liverpool is due to come 2½ to 6⅛ points down.

Foreign Finances.

London, February 28.—Bullion amounting to £221,000 was taken into the Bank of England on abalance today.

Bar silver was quoted at 27 1-16d per ounce today, a decline of 1 d since Monday. The weakness was attributed to continued selling by China.

Berlin, February 28.—Exchange on London, 20 marks, 45½ pfennigs for checks. Money for the settlement, 5 @5½ per cent. Private rate of discount, 5⅝@5¾ per cent.

Paris, February 28.—Three per cent rentes, 89 francs 15½ centimes for the account. Exchange on London, 25 francs 24½ centimes for checks. Private rate of discount, 3⅞ per cent.

London Stock Market.

London, February 28.—Money rates hard; discounts easy. The stock market continues to benefit by the improving continental situation. American securities were quiet and steady and a fraction above parity during the forenoon. Later New York sold United States Steel, but sent sufficient support to maintain the rest of the list at the early level. The market closed quiet.

Consols for money, 74¾; consols for account (April), 75.

Illinois Central, 126.
Louisville, 136½.
Southern Railway, 26½.
Bar silver, 27½d per ounce; weak.
Money, 4¾@5 per cent.
Discount rates: Short bills, 5 per cent; three months, 4¾@4 13-16 per cent.

RESERVE ESTIMATES DEPRESSED WHEAT

Thought That Government Report Will Show Increase in Favor of Reserves.

Chicago, February 28.—Estimates that farm reserves would be shown by the government report to be much heavier than had been supposed brought about depression today in wheat. Despite a firmer feeling at the close, the outcome was a shade to 1-8@1-4c net decline. Corn finished unchanged to 1- lower and oats off a 1-16 to 1-8, but provisions were up 2 1-2@5 to 12 1-2c.

Calculations regarding the amount of wheat in first hands ranged from 135,000,000 to 145,000,000 bushels, against 122,000,000 a year ago. Hints of a surprise in this respect came early from the northwest, but the market at the outset paid more heed to unexpectedly firm cables. Pressure from sellers, however, gradually increased. Large receipts of bonded at Duluth encouraged the bears, who continued also to find assistance in perfect conditions for the winter crop. Big export clearances for the day and week led to a rally after midday, but the buying slackened again after the wants of shorts had been filled. Total clearances of wheat and flour during the last 24 hours equaled 759,000 bushels. Primary receipts of wheat were 776,000 bushels compared with 314,000 a year ago.

Huge stocks in elevators and on track at Buffalo, as well as here, made corn heavy. Record-breaking reserves and fine weather were also factors. Nevertheless, bull leaders bought in stubborn fashion and prevented any material break.

Covernig by shorts sustained oats.

Unloading failed to overcome entirely a decided upturn in provisions due to a falling off in hog receipts. Pork touched highest point in a long while, $20.40 a barrel.

STOCKS WILL DRIFT UNTIL INAUGURATION

Traders Inclined to Wait Until New Administration Takes Charge of Affairs.

New York, February 28.—There was no strong demand for stocks today from any quarter. Price movements were small and variable and trading was dull. With the change in administration at Washington only a few days off, traders were inclined to let the market drift. The more pressing requirements of the short interest appeared to have been satisfied, thus curtailing an important factor in the recent upturn. The only wide fluctuations of the day were among the less stable stocks, such as Can, Woolworth, Sear-Roebuck and Goodrich, which fell sharply in the early part of the day.

The money market showed a firmer tendency today. Call money touched 4½ per cent, the highest in some time. German bankers were bidding actively for money. As much as 5 per cent for thirty days was offered, with few acceptances. Local bankers look for a decided stiffening of rates within the next few weeks, basing their opinions largely on the strained monetary conditions abroad, further proof of which was furnished by the Bank of England's latest statement. Tightening of call rates today was attributed to preparations for March interest and disbursements tomorrow.

Declaration of 24 per cent back dividends on Can, preferred, after the close of the market yesterday, proved to have been discounted. Both common and preferred sold off sharply, although later they recovered part of the losses. Baltimore and Ohio was depressed temporarily by a further hitch in plans for the new bond issue.

The improvement in bonds was halted and there were some traces of heaviness. Total sales, par value, $1,830,000. United States 2s declined ⅛ on call.

Coffee.

New York, February 28.—Coffee futures opened steady at a decline of 7 to 10 points, in response to lower European cables and a renewal of scattering liquidation. Houses with European connections also appeared to be selling here and with comparatively few buyers around the ring, the market eased off further during the day, closing easy at a net decline of 18 to 23 points. Sales 50,750.

Cost and freight offers were said to be a shade higher, but it was reported that demand showed a tendency to call off at the advance.

Spot coffee nominal; Rio sevens 12⅝; Santos fours 14¼.

Mild dull; Cordova 15@17, nominal.

Rio unchanged; Santos fours unchanged; sevens 50 reis lower at 6$600.

Havre 1 to 1½ francs lower; Hamburg ½ to 1 pfennig lower.

Brazilian port receipts 16,000, against 18,000 last year.

Jundiahy receipts 5,000, against 6,000 last year.

Today's Santos cable reported fours unchanged.

Sao Paulo receipts 11,000, against 10,000 yesterady.

Cattle receipts, normal. Market fairly steady with a better percentage of steers on the market than usual. Fort Valley, Ga., was well represented in the yards this week with two loads of choice heavy steers, fed by A. J. Evans, one of the leading live stock men of the state. These steers were about the best received so far this season. Mr. Evans also shipped a car of fine corn-fed hogs, which were equal to quality to hogs from any section of the country. Mr. A. N. Brown, of McDonough, Ga., was also on the market this week, with a choice lot of fed shorthorn heifers. These together with other loads made the run for the week above the average in quality and type of cattle. Several loads of steers are reported ready to ship and will be on the market within the next few days.

Hogs receipts, normal. Market easier.

Chicago Railways Company
First Mortgage Five Per Cent Gold Bonds
Dated February 1, 1907 Due February 1, 1927

Interest payable February 1 and August 1 in New York and Chicago. Denomination $1,000. Coupon or registered bonds. Optional at par and accrued interest on any interest payment date.

Harris Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago, Trustee

Previous issues of these bonds are listed on Chicago Stock Exchange, and application will be made to list the present issue. Application will also be made to list the total issue on the New York Stock Exchange.

For full particulars of this issue attention is called to a letter of Henry A. Blair, Esq., Chairman of the Board of Directors, copies of which may be had on request, from which the following facts are taken:

The Chicago Railways Company operates without surface competition an electric street railway system of over 466 miles of single track, serving the "Downtown" as well as the entire North and West sides of the City of Chicago. This territory has a present estimated population in excess of 1,600,000.

Earnings and Expenses
(as officially reported for years ended December 31)

	1912	1911
Gross Earnings	$17,919,574	$17,195,160
Operating Expenses, including Taxes and Maintenance	11,632,292	12,138,442
Net Earnings	$6,287,282	$5,056,718
*Annual interest charge on $49,955,000 First 5s, including the present issue	2,497,750
Balance	$3,789,532

*As a part of the above First Mortgage Bonds were not outstanding during this period, the actual interest accrued amounted to $2,297,750, leaving a balance of $3,989,532

Annual gross earnings of the Chicago Railways Company have increased more than $7,000,000 within the past three years and now amount to $17,919,574.

As established by ordinance of the City of Chicago the official valuation of the Company's property will be at least $30,779,874.94 in excess of the First Mortgage Bonds.

There will be endorsed on each bond a certificate of the Comptroller of the City of Chicago, identifying the bond as being entitled to a first lien upon the entire property of the Chicago Railways Company.

Under the arrangement between the City and the Company, as provided by the ordinance, the City is equally interested in increasing the net earnings of the property; thus the First Mortgage Bonds now offered are, in a certain way, quasi-municipal securities.

The property of the Chicago Railways Company is being equipped and will be maintained in a manner to give the territory served by the Company the finest service that money and engineering ability can provide.

We recommend these bonds for investment
Price 99½ and interest
Pending the delivery of engraved bonds temporary certificates of the Company will be delivered

REVIEW OF TRADE BY COMMERCIAL AGENCIES

New York, February 28.—Dun's review tomorrow will say that reports from leading trade centers continue satisfactory in most instances. There is a large distribution of the principal products and sustained activity in retail trade, particularly in sections favored with good weather. Outside of those markets, which, by reason of their larger and more sensitive speculative organizations have been directly affected by the important events happening in various parts of the globe, business sentiment maintains a steady, conservative attitude, even on the eve of the first change in the political control of our governmena in sixteen years.

The railroads which are about to arbitrate their differences with the firemen, and are still buying heavily of needed supplies, gained 3.2 per cent in gross earnings in the first three weeks of February. The exceptional activity in iron and steel is maintained. The copper market, however, is depressed.

The market for securities has again been more or less unsettled. The interest and dividend payments due March 1 are estimated at $14,000,000 more than last year—the increase being mainly in industrials.

Time money continues to be firmly held, but European gold demands are lessening.

Foreign commerce continues to establish a large balance in this nation's favor.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES, DAY BY DAY

ALL THE NEWS OF REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING

An interesting announcement on yesterday was the sale of No. 20 Peachtree circle for a consideration of $20,500, at a rate of $205 per front foot. The transaction was handled by J. H. Whitten, of M. L. Thrower's agency.

This property consists of a ten-room brick veneered slate roof residence, just off of Peachtree. The lot has a frontage of 100 feet with a depth of 220 feet. The property was sold for George Holliday, Jr., to George A. Speer, who will use it as his home.

Big Announcements Soon.

The fine weather which has held sway during almost the entire month of February has not been without its effect upon Atlanta's real estate market. During that month there were several deals of considerable note, as well as a very large number of less significant deals, announced.

But this is not all. The reports of about a dozen real estate agencies yesterday showed that there are now in the contract stage in Atlanta deals in real estate amounting to practically $1,000,000, all of which will very probably be announced before the 15th of this month. These deals include several large acreage transactions in the suburbs of the city and a number of deals along Ivy and other semi-central streets, as well as Peachtree street deals footing up several hundred thousand dollars.

Building Also Booming.

Building is not less on the boom than the realty market in Atlanta, according to figures in the office of the building inspector late yesterday afternoon. The month of February showed an increase over the corresponding month of last year of $107,344, and the permits issued for the entire period of this year so far are $210,054 in advance of the corresponding period of 1912. February, 1913, shows $509,681, against $402,337 for February, 1912. The combined months of January and February of this year foot up at a total of $906,686, against $696,632 for 1912.

Home-building is largely responsible for the increase in the issuance of permits, which is taken as a good indication not only of the growth in population, but that the increase is made up of a good, substantial citizenry.

Real Estate Sales.

Through the agency of J. H. Porter, Martin Amorous has bought No. 78 Forrest avenue, known as the former Holliday home, a two-story frame residence on a lot 60x150, for $15,000.

Mrs. Dora R. Wilcoxen has sold to John W. Moore No. 19 West North avenue, a two-story dwelling on a lot 50x190, adjoining the rectory of All Saints' church, for $10,500.

HESTER'S MONTHLY COTTON STATEMENT

New Orleans, February 28.—Secretary Hester's New Orleans cotton exchange statement, issued today covers the monthly movement to February 28.

Compared with last year it shows a decrease for the month in round figures of 727,000 bales, compared with year before last of 32,000, and with 1910 an increase of 320,000.

The total of February was 879,770, against 1,607,135 last year, 848,104 year before last and 559,517 same time in 1910.

The movement from September 1 to February, inclusive, shows receipts at all United States ports 8,386,987, against 10,123,848 last year, 7,725,211 year before last and 6,033,141 same time in 1910; overland across the Mississippi, Ohio and Potomac rivers to northern mills and Canada 778,041, against 869,694 last year, 741,268 year before last and 612,345 same time in 1910; southern mills taking, exclusive of quantity consumed at southern outports 1,976,000, against 668,000 last year, 1,484,000 year before last and 1,409,000 same time in 1910; and interior stocks in excess of those held at the commencement of the season 581,151, against 497,001 last year, 500,028 year before last and 548,445 same time in 1910.

These make the total movement of the cotton crop brought into sight during the six months ending close of February 28, 11,722,179.

Northern spinners took during February 230,013 bales, against 341,861 last year and 186,304 year before last, increasing their total for the six months to 1,886,938, against 1,898,660 last year and 1,713,885 the year before. This makes their average weekly takings for the season 72,976, against 73,428 last year, and 66,283 the year before.

Foreign exports for the six months of the season have been 6,752,516 bales, showing a decrease under last season of 1,168,632, and an increase over the same period year before last of 530,554.

Stocks at the seaboard and the twenty-nine leading southern interior markets on February 28 were 1,422,205, against 1,938,866 the same date last year, and 1,259,903 the year before.

Including port and interior town stocks left over from the previous season and the number of sales of the current crop brought into sight during the six months, the supply has been 12,086,892, against 13,447,017 last year and 10,698,469 the year before.

Up to the close of February last year 81.54 per cent of the cotton crop had been marketed and for the same six months in 1911, the percenage of the crop brought into sight was 86.22, and for the same time in 1910 the percentage marketed was 81.9.

WORLD'S VISIBLE SUPPLY.

New Orleans, February 28.—Secretary Hesters' statement of the world's visible supply of cotton, made up from special cable and telegraphic advices, compares the figures of this week with last week, last year and the year before. It shows a decline for the week just closed of 30,886, against an increase of 7,528 last year and a decrease of 117,412 year before last.

The total visible is 5,636,955, against 5,667,841 last week, 6,001,350 last year and 4,795,889 year before last. Of this the total of American cotton is 4,135,955, against 4,222,841 last week, 4,841,350 last year and 3,680,889 year before last, and of all other kinds, including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc., 1,501,000, against 1,445,000 last week, 1,160,000 last year and 1,115,000 year before last.

The total world's visible supply of cotton, as above, shows a decrease compared with last week of 30,886, a decrease compared with last year of 364,390, and an increase compared with year before last of 841,066.

Of the world's visible supply of cotton, as above, there is now afloat and held in Great Britain and continental Europe 3,103,000, against 3,234,000 last year and 2,848,000 year before last; in Egypt 290,000, against 274,000 last year and 243,000 year before last; in Indian 82,000, against 589,000 last year and 476,000 year before last; and in the United States 1,422,000, against 1,904,000 last year, and 1,229,000 year before last.

SPINNERS' TAKINGS.

New Orleans, February 28.—Secretary Hester gives the taking of American cotton by spinners throughout the world as follows, in round numbers:

This week 333,000, this year, against 310,000 last year, 340,000 year before last.

Total since September 1, this year 8,938,000, against 9,075,000 last year, and 754,000 the year before.

Of this northern spinners and Canada took 1,887,000 bales this year, against 1,879,000 last year, and 1,715,000 the year before; southern spinners 2,025,000, against 1,688,000 last year, and 1,502,000 the year before, and foreign spinners 5,026,000, against 5,508,000 last year, and 4,328,000 the year before.

(a) Including stock corrections, Bemen 9,000 plus and Norfolk 12,000 plus. In total since September 1, this year (a) 8, etc.

REVIEW COTTON MARKET DURING THE PAST WEEK

New York, February 28.—The cotton market has not been active during the past week, but prices have shown a generally upward tendency owing to relatively steady spot markets, foreign buying, a better view of European politics and lessening apprehension as to the situation in Mexico. The bearish opinions of the market, which were recently so pronounced, have doubtless been encouraged by favorable reports as to preliminary new crop preparations and talk of increased acreage, but offerings have been much less aggressive and sentiment on the whole has appeared to be rather better divided. The prompt stopping of March notices yesterday tended to accentuate the steadiness of the spot situation in spite of a reported slack demand, and the market showed quite a steady undertone toward the end of the week, although realizing caused moderate reaction from the best.

According to local estimates, notices representing about 40,000 to 45,000 bales of cotton were issued against March contracts yesterday. It was supposed that these notices were issued by the same interests who took up cotton on January contracts, but they were promptly stopped and March developed sufficient strength to create rumors there was still a considerable short interest outstanding.

Very little cotton has arrived from the south since the last of January, but there have been rumors that moderate holdings in the eastern belt might be shipped here in time for March delivery, should the spot month reach a premium of 35 or 40 points over May. Advices from Liverpool continue to indicate a relatively bullish feeling in English trade circles, which is attributed to the activity of Lancashire, and it is reported that in spite of Balkin troubles, some of the German mills are declaring good dividends.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, February 28.—The prompt stopping of tenders today for March delivery gave strength to the general market, which influenced short covering, thus advancing prices about 12 points. Business, however, was not on a broad scale and after the early transactions had been completed, the market became very dull. The strength of the March position is engaging attention just now, with the exception of which there is no feature to be noted.

MERCER BESTS AUBURN.

Baptists Trounce Alabama Basketball Five 36 to 19.

Macon, Ga., February 28.—(Special.) Mercer came back strong here tonight against Auburn, and easily defeated the Alabama five by the score of 36 to 19. The game was fast, scrappy and interesting all the way through. Mercer passed well, but shot only in medium form. Had their shooting been up to the standard, the score would have been much larger. They played a much better game than the one against Tech.

Scarborough starred for Auburn, doing some good shooting and pulling off some fast floor work. Cook played a strong game. Stubbs and Westmoreland played best for Mercer, the latter copping 18 points.

WANTS CHARTER SUBMITTED FIRST

"Let People Pass on It, and Then if They Vote Favorable, Send It to the Legislature," Says Mayor.

The fight on the revised charter has narrowed down to a plan of the opposition to have the measure submitted to the legislature before the people adopt it.

Mayor James G. Woodard, leader of the charter reformers, declared Friday that the charter would not only be adopted almost unanimously by the committee of twenty-five, but that he has every reason to believe that a majority of council will support it rather than attempt to foist on Atlanta a charter that does not strike a real reforms.

That the organization behind the substitute charter movement has been greatly weakened since the new movement was exposed, became apparent Friday when men who were inclined to support the substitute declared that they were "hands off" in the fight. They say that they are not willing to taunt the people by an effort to defeat any movement that stands for honest charter revision.

Let People Vote First.

"If the charter is submitted to the legislature before it is adopted by the people the opposition will be in a position to have it changed to such an extent that the people would be forced to repudiate it," Mayor Woodward said. "Let council give the charter to the people to vote on before the legislature meets. If the people ratify the charter then the legislature can adopt it without tearing it to pieces, and if the people reject it there will be no need of submitting it to the legislature."

Mayor Woodward said that the trick is too apparent to pass unnoticed. He says that council is in the attitude of either being willing to let the people pass on the proposed charter, or unwilling, and that it will have to show its hand when the charter gets there.

Council's opponents to the charter would gain a distinct advantage by having the charter sent direct to the legislature. There would be no limit to the amendments that would be shot at it. Mayor Woodward says that the legislature, under strong pressure, could shoot the charter so full of amendments that it would be worse than the old patchwork charter under which Atlanta is now being governed.

Surprises Are Rumored.

The advocates of the new charter have shown little activity during the past two days around the city hall. It has been whispered about that there will be several surprises sprung when the substitute is sent to council.

According to well-posted politicians, there will be quite a number of changes in the substitute. The amendments will not strike at the administrative catures of the substitute or he present harter of the city, but it will be closely kin to the new charter of the mayor's ommittee as to the organic laws.

The next important move of Mayor Woodward and the committee will be to hasten the charter through council.

City Attorney James L. Mayson said Friday that he did not make a denial of bein; connected with any movement adverse to the proposed charter of the committee of twenty-five.

The city attorney says that his views on the charter question are well known, and that the publication may do him an injustice.

RECOMMENDS CURB FOR MONEY TRUST

a sinister slight has been thrown over banking practices which was not justified by the facts; that no effort has been made to show the reasonable and commendable explanations of these practices, and that in many cases an impression has been given to the country as to the character and motives of leading bankers which is altogether unfair.

Sentiment Against Wall Street.

"A sentiment has been created throughout the country against Wall street, and many of our good citizens do not realize what it means that New York has become one of the world's leading money markets, and that the banks of New York and their associates are now able to handle large transactions which they were unable to handle only a few years since. I feel that every American citizen should be proud of the fact that we have a city where there is sufficient capital to handle these enterprises, and should take pride also in the character and integrity of the men who are at the head of its financial institutions."

Mr. McMoran declared the proposed scheme for regulating stock exchanges "drastic and unwarranted," and that there was "no real evil" in interlocking directorates.

How Control Is Effected.

The majority report, after declaring the existence of a money trust, said that "the increased concentration of control of money and credit had been effected principally as follows:

"First, through consolidations of competitive or potentially competitive banks and trust companies, which consolidations in turn have recently been brought under sympathetic management.

"Second, through the same powerful interests becoming large stockholders in potentially competitive banks and trust companies. This is the simplest way of acquiring control, but, since it requires the largest investment of capital, it is the least used, although the recent investments in that direction for that apparent purpose amount to tens of millions of dollars in present market values.

"Third, through the confederation of potentially competitive banks and trust companies by means of the system of interlocking directorates.

"Fourth, through the influence which the more powerful banking houses, banks and trust companies have secured in the management of insurance companies, railroads, producing and trading corporations and public utility corporations, by means of stock holdings, voting trusts, fiscal agency contracts or representation upon their boards of directors, or through supplying the money requirements of railway, industrial and public utilities corporations and thereby being enabled to participate in the determination of their financial and business policies.

"Fifth, through partnership or joint account arrangements between a few of the leading banking houses, banks and trust companies in the purchase of security in such of the great interstate corporations, accompanied by understandings of recent growth—sometimes called 'banking ethics'—which have had the effect of effectually destroying competition between such banking houses, banks and trust companies in the struggle for business or in the purchase and sale of large issues of such securities."

The Majority Report.

That a money trust does exist, and that its powers should be curbed by stringent federal regulations as to the conduct of national banks, clearing houses and stock exchanges were the findings of the house money trust committee set forth in the majority report of its investigations filed in the house late today.

The report, signed by Chairman Pujo and the six other democratic members of the subcommittee which conducted the money trust probe, is a voluminous document accompanied by two lengthy bills, one to regulate stock exchanges by forbidding the mails to exchanges which do not comply with federal regulations, and the other to regulate clearing house associations by forbidding national banks to join such associations unless federal regulations are observed. In the latter bill, proposed as an amendment to the national banking act, the conduct of national bank officers and directors is restricted closely.

Largely Untermyer's Work.

The report as submitted to the house is largely the work of Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the committee, who composed the original draft of the report, and who drew the bills presented. On the questi.. of the existence of a money trust, the report is specific and detailed.

"It would, of course, be absurd," said the report, "to suggest that control of the bulk of the widely distributed wealth of a great nation can be corralled by any set of men. If that is what is meant by gentlemen who deny the existence of a money trust, your committee agrees with them. Such a thing of course would be impossible and its suggestion is ridiculous."

"It is not, however, necessary that a group of men shall directly control the small savings in the banks for the scattered resources of the country in order to monopolize the great financial transactions or to be able to dictate the credits that shall be extended or withheld from the more important and conspicuous enterprises. This is substantially what has been accomplished and fairly represents the existing condition."

Concentration in New York.

The great bank or banker with access to the mainsprings of the concentrated resources of other people's money, the report declares, can handle the vast issues of securities now demanded by the commercial and industrial development of the country. But the bank reserve system, it is further contended, concentrates a large part of the funds of the smaller banks in New York, where a group of men have strengthened their interest in the various banking institutions.

"If, therefore, by a 'money trust' is meant 'an established and well defined identity and community of interest between a few leaders of finance which has been created and held together through stock holdings, interlocking directorates and other forms of domination over banks, trust companies, railroads, public service and industrial corporations, and which has resulted in a vast and growing concentration of the control of money and credit in the hands of a comparatively few men,' your committee, as before stated, has no hesitation in asserting, as the result of its investigation up to this time, that the condition thus described exists in this country today.

Domination Supreme.

"To say that the domination of this group over the money and credit of the country, controlled by our largest financial institutions and that is available for financing large security issues for the current needs of our principal interstate corporations and of the individuals conducting great enterprises and for stock exchange loans, is at least as effective as for instance is the control of the United States Steep corporation over the steel industry, as an under-statement of the situation, although the methods by which this control is effected and held together are of course essentially different and of a more loose and intangible character."

Accepting this as the long-sought "money trust,' the commitee outlined the membership as follows:

"The parties to this combination or understanding or community of interest by whatever it may be called may be conveniently classified for the purpose of differentiation, into four separate groups.

The Inner Ring.

"The first, which for convenience of statement we will call the inner group, consists of J. P. Morgan & Co., the recognized leaders, and George F. Baker and James Stillman, in their individual capacities and in their joint administration and control of the First National bank, the National City bank, the National Bank of Commerce, the Chase National bank, the Guaranty Trust company and the Bankers' Trust company, with total known resources, in these corporations alone, in excess of $1,300,000,000, and of a number of smaller but important financial institutions. This takes no account of the personal fortunes of these gentlemen.

"Closely allied with this inner or primary group and indeed related to them practically as partners in many of their larger financial enterprises, are the powerful international banking house of Lee, Higginson & Co. and Kidder, Peabody & Co., with three affiliated banks in Boston.

Allies of the Ring.

"In New York city the international banking house of Messrs. Kuhn, Loeb & Co., with its large foreign clientele and connections, whilst only qualifiedly allied with the inner group, yet through its close relations with the National City bank and the National Bank of Commerce and other financial institutions, has many interests in common, conducting large joint account transactions with them and having what virtually amounts to an understanding not to compete, which is defended as a principle of 'banking ethics.' Together they have with a few exceptions preempted the banking business of the important railways of the country.

"In Chicago this inner group associates with and makes issues of securities in joint account, or through underwriting participations primarily with the First National bank and the Illinois Trust and Savings bank and has more or less friendly business relations with the Continental and Commercial National bank, which participates in the underwriting of security issues by the inner group. These are the three largest financial institutions in Chicago, with combined resources of $561,000,000.

Others Receive Patronage.

"Radiating from these principal groups and closely affiliated with them are smaller but important banking houses, that receive large and lucrative patronage from the dominating groups and are used by the latter as jobbers or distributors of securities the issuing of which they control, but which for reasons of their own they prefer not to have issued or distributed under their own names.

Not to Be Tolerated.

"Your committee is convinced that however well founded may be the assurances of good intentions by those now holding the places of power which have been thus created, the situation is fraught with too great peril to our institutions to be tolerated."

Recommendations of the committee, as set forth in the report and as embraced in the bills accompanying the report urged the following reforms:

"Clearing house associations of which national banks are members should be required to become bodies corporate of the states in which they are located and every solvent and properly managed bank or trust company should have the right, enforcable by law, to become and remain a member.

"Regular periodical examinations of members by a committee of the clearing house association should be prohibited, and instead all such examinations should be conducted by public authorities."

The committee would give the government supervision of clearing house certificates, and would prohibit fixing rates by clearing houses for collection for out-of-town checks, discount or interest on deposits.

Recommendations Made

As to the New York stock exchange the committee recommended in part:

"That congress prohibit transmission by mail, telegraph or telephone from one state to another orders to buy or sell quotations or other information concerning transactions on any stock exchange, and also prohibit national banks from buying or selling or lending upon the security of stocks or bonds listed on any stock exchange, unless such exchange were a body corporate of the state or territory in which it is located.

"Require a margin of not less than 20 per cent on all purchases of stock.

"Prohibit as far as possible execution of substantially simultaneous orders proceeding from the same person or persons to buy and sell the same security to create an appearance of activity therein, and any orders, the purpose of which is to inflate or depress the price of any security.

"State in its charter the conditions on which issues of securities shall be admitted or removed from the trading list, and provide for a judicial review of its action in this regard.

Show Actual Transactions.

"Keep books of account, showing the actual names and transactions of customers and give access thereto to the postmaster general."

Among the recommendations for the restriction of national banks the committee sets forth:

"Prohibition of consolidation of two or more banks without approval of the comptroller of the currency; prohibition of directors serving on the boards of more than one bank in the same community; forbidding voting trusts in the control of banks; providing for cumulative voting in the election of national bank directors; forbidding security holding companies as adjuncts to national banks; forbidding interstate corporations from constituting any banking establishments their sole fiscal agents; forbidding national banks from engaging in underwriting syndicates; allowing national banks to invest 25 per cent of their capital in state, city, county or corporation mortgage bonds, if the corporation issues have paid interest regularly for five years; reform of the system of railroad reorganization to conform with the scheme outlined in the British law which places reorganization under the control of the courts, giving the interstate commerce commission the power to supervise reorganization plans; placing railroad security issues under control of the commission; forbidding officers of national banks from borrowing from their banks; providing for publicity for loans made by a director from his bank; making it a crime for officers or directors to accept any compensation for loaning a bank's funds; providing publicity for the assets and for the stockholding lists of national banks.

EVERETT PROPERTY

We will sell before the Courthouse Door, on Tuesday, March 4th (legal sale day), at ten o'clock, for the Commissioners appointed by the Superior Court the Everett property on opposite the mouth of Forrest Avenue.

The lot fronts 71.9 feet on Peachtree and extends through to Alexander Street, on which the frontage is 85 feet. On Peachtree Street is a splendid, brick residence, and on Alexander Street is a modern apartment house.

It is unnecessary to say anything about the certain enhancement of Peachtree business property; and this particular lot, being so near the junction of Peachtree, Ivy and Forrest Avenue, is, in our opinion, the most attractive proposition north of Cain Street.

The titles are perfect, and the terms one-third cash, balance in one, two and three years, with 6% interest.
